SOCIAL CREDIT LANDSLIDE IN ALBERTA

Sum Of $11,146,563 Will Be Spent On Railway Equipment

Five Eastern Manufacturing Plants Get Orders Totaling $9,821,563 and Balance Amounting to $1,325,000 Will Be Manufactured in C.N.R. Shops

New Rolling Stock For Two Railways

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Railway equipment orders amounting to $9,821,563 have been allocated to five manufacturing plants in eastern Canada. Shops of the Canadian National Railways will manufacture equipment to the value of $1,325,000. Details of the orders under the supplementary public works act of 1935 were made public to-day.

An appropriation of $15,000,000 was provided in the act for railway purposes. The two railway companies will have the benefit of the equipment for two years without interest, after which they will pay off the principal in instalments, with interest at 4 per cent.

Canadian National will secure $6,791,181 worth of new cars and locomotives, and the Canadian Pacific orders will total $4,355,400.

The Canadian Car and Foundry Co. of Montreal will supply equipment to the value of $3,615,549. The Eastern Car Company, New Glasgow, N.S., $1,986,175, the National Steel Car Company, Hamilton, $2,942,899, Montreal Locomotive Works, $1,166,000, and the Canadian Locomotive Works, Kingston, $492,900.

New Building Contracts Let

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Contract for a Dominion public building for Regina at a cost of $463,962 was awarded by the Public Works Department in a list issued to-day.

More than $900,000 in contracts were awarded altogether for buildings and improvements in four provinces. A contract was awarded to J. A. Maranda and Sons of Arcola, Sask., for public buildings alterations, repairs and painting at $2,176.

A total of eighteen contracts were approved. The three contracts for works in the west all went to Saskatchewan. The third was for a public building at Whitewood, Sask., at $7,933. It was awarded to W. J. Merrifield of Wolsley, Sask.

The Regina public building contract, the largest in the list, was awarded to A. W. Cassidy and Company of Saskatchewan.

Of the other contracts, Ontario received six, including the construction of extension to the rubble mound breakwater at Port Arthur at a cost of $7,993 by a Toronto firm, Quebec received five and Nova Scotia four.

ITALY'S GUNS CANNOT FIGHT DISEASE

To all intents peace still reigns between Italy and Ethiopia, but already Ethiopia's allies are attacking the black-shirt forces in East Africa. The heat, disease, insects, rain have invalidated more than 5,000 of the expeditionary force, and above can be seen Italian soldiers carrying a comrade on a stretcher to a field hospital, a casualty in the battle against the tropics.

BANK BANDITS CRASH THROUGH POLICE CORDON

Constables Guarding Bridge at Lillooet Held Up By Men Wanted For Bank of Toronto Robbery at Pioneer Mine

Longshoremen Probe Sought

Canadian Press
Lillooet, B.C., Aug. 23.—Three bandits who held up the Bank of Toronto at Pioneer Mine Tuesday and escaped with $1,133 in cash crashed through a police cordon early to-day and escaped across the Fraser River here after holding up two special constables guarding the bridge.

The bandits had been sought three days by Indian trackers who led a large posse through the mountainous Bridge River mining district after the hold-up. Armed outposts of police and special constables were stationed on all trails and bridges and it was believed the gunmen's escape was cut off.

The bandits, however, apparently trekked directly through the heavy bush instead of following the trails, and the first clue to their whereabouts came at 2 a.m. to-day when they suddenly appeared at the head of the bridge here and held up Olen McEaster and Pat Lyons, special police guarding the crossing.

TWO MOUNTED
Two of the bandits were mounted and the third was afoot, running and hanging to the stirrup of one of the mounted men. Previously, only the two gunmen who entered the bank and looted the cashier's till after binding the manager and a woman customer were known to have participated in the robbery, but indications at the time pointed to a third accomplice.

Federal inquiry into the longshoremen's strike, with a view to conciliation, will be sought in a joint approach to the Minister of Labor from Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

This action has been decided upon in view of the widespread effect of the local tie-up, and a wire will probably be forwarded to Ottawa early next week, Revere William Crouch yesterday evening told members of the Saanich Council.

Councillor W. R. Woods, Ward Four, suggested steps towards conciliation be made here, because he understood ships were passing this port, which was having a disastrous effect on local industry.

Revere Crouch stated the matter had been under consideration, and pending the return of Mayor Leeming, who is on a business trip in the south, the issue would probably be attended to next week.

It was intended, according to the report, that a joint telegram should be sent from the four councils urging the federal Department of Labor to investigate the walkout and attempt to act as arbitrator.

ITALY BUYS U.S. AIRPLANE ENGINES

Canadian Press
Washington, Aug. 23.—Italy's purchase this August of high-powered United States airplane engines are shown to-day to have exceeded shipments for all 1934. Figures of the Air Commerce Bureau, based on the certificates of airworthiness issued on plane exports, showed sixteen engines already have been certified, and that six more are pending. Air commerce records showed only twelve engines shipped in 1934.

HEAVY RAINS IN ENGLAND

Associated Press
London, Aug. 23.—Heavy rains to-day broke the intense heat wave of the summer. The temperature dropped to sixty degrees Fahrenheit against yesterday's high of 90.4. Lightning struck the Tottenham Court Road police station, but there were no casualties.

ISLAND SUPPLIES MASTS FOR KING

Two Tall Spars Cut at Cowichan to Carry Sails on His Majesty's New Yacht; Eight Trees Cut Before Rights Ones Selected

Cowichan Lake, Aug. 23.—Two masts for the King's new yacht have been felled on Block 178, Grouse Mountain, seven miles up Lake Cowichan, and now lie waiting inspection and acceptance by Percy Sells, Vancouver.

One of these timbers is 108 feet long, with a twenty-inch top, the other ninety-six feet long with a twenty-two-inch top. Both are heart-centred at each end, which entitles them to be classified as "mast grade."

It has taken two months' dicker and much selection to fill this order. The original specification called for a ninety-six-foot stick with a twenty-nine-inch top. Joe Kerrone, who took the contract, felled eight trees before two were found suitable.

The first two felled had pitch seams across the heart. These trees were about 130 feet long, but had to be discarded when it was found that the pitch persisted after lopping off four twelve-foot lengths.

Aberhart Party Is Given Mandate To Govern By An Overwhelming Majority

Group May Get Candidate Here

Social Credit Supporters to Discuss Plans Federally

Victoria may have a Douglas Social Credit candidate in the field for the federal campaign, it appeared to-day after the sweeping victory won by the Aberhart social creditors in Alberta yesterday.

Rev. F. W. McKinnon, one of the chief proponents of the social credit theory in Victoria and leader in the small organization that was launched last year, said this morning the question of nominating a candidate would be discussed shortly.

"Our reaction to the Alberta victory is a very happy one," he declared. "Coming events cast their shadows before. We're living in a new age. Within five years British Columbia will go social credit," he added.

Standing of New Party Shows Thirty-seven Candidates Elected and Twenty-one Others Leading; Two Liberals and One Conservative Returned; Caucus to Name Premier Will Be First Move of New Government

REID DEFEATED IN OWN RIDING

Canadian Press
Calgary, Aug. 23.—The only question on the Alberta political horizon to-day was just how many seats William Aberhart's Alberta Social Credit League would have in the next Legislature following the overwhelming approval given by a record number of voters in yesterday's election.

The elector's stamp of approval that gave victory to thirty-seven Social Credit nominees and left twenty-one leading in unfinished counts rolled out of power Premier Reid's fourteen-year-old United Farmers of Alberta government.

The premier and five members of his cabinet met defeat. Two others were running behind in constituencies where final returns were missing and only one, Hon. J. F. Lymburn, the only U.F.A. candidate running in an urban riding, was up with the leaders.

The standing at 12:45 p.m., P.S.T., was:
Social credit elected, 37.
Liberals elected, 2.
Liberals leading, 1.
Conservatives elected, 1.
Social Credit leading, 21.
U.F.A. leading, 1.
Total seats, 63.

GERMANY SEEKS TO FLOAT LOAN

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Aug. 23.—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Reich Minister of Economy, is to come here soon to deliver several lectures. It was reported here to-day.

According to The Daily Herald, he hopes to arrange to float a new loan for Germany and already has been in touch with Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, for that purpose.

Selassie Offers To Sell Province

GERMANS DENY AIR DISASTER

Deal Involving Aussa Would Give Italy Territory Adjoining Eritrea; Proceeds Would Be Used to Banish Slavery

By JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Staff Writer
Addis Ababa, Aug. 23.—In a last desperate effort to save Ethiopia from war, Emperor Haile Selassie was reported to-day to have offered to sell to Italy the province of Aussa, in northeastern Ethiopia, adjoining Eritrea.

The proceeds of the sale, the report added, would be used to banish slavery and to build schools, roads and hospitals in the primitive kingdom. Details of the reported offer were lacking.

Officials close to the Emperor were not sanguine this move would deter Mussolini from launching his proposed "Roman conquest" as soon as the rainy season is over. The possession of Aussa, which embraces approximately 10,000 square miles, would close together Italian and Ethiopian frontiers at a point where they have not met for centuries.

Again Shipping Coal to Italy

Canadian Press from Havas
Newcastle, England, Aug. 23.—After a fortnight's interruption on coal shipments from Newcastle to Italy, the shipments were resumed to-day when a cargo of 9,000 tons left for Italian ports. The interruption occurred when the British coal industry refused further shipments until payment for previous consignments had been made. It was stated that payment for the "present shipment" has been arranged.

MANY HOMELESS IN INDIA FLOOD

Associated Press
Calcutta, India, Aug. 23.—More than 10,000 persons were made homeless to-day as a result of extensive floods covering about 200 square miles in the Burdwan district of Bengal. There was small loss of life. The government is taking elaborate precautions to prevent an outbreak of epidemics.

NO NEUTRALS IN NEXT WAR

U.S. Cannot Possibly Keep
Out of Conflict, Declares
George Lansbury

London, Aug. 23.—George Lansbury, radical leader of the Opposition in parliament, said today the United States "cannot possibly keep out of the next war."

The gruff, bewhiskered Labor leader made that assertion as the British public, with mingled feelings of relief and disappointment, pondered the decision of the emergency cabinet meeting and wondered why the session had been called.

Lansbury voiced a strong plea for United States to "stand in with us" in the Italy-Ethiopia crisis. He discounted the efficacy of the neutrality resolution before the congress of the United States.

"I do not think anyone can remain neutral in a war of any dimensions," he said. "The United States will be ruined anyway if they stay neutral for, bear it in mind, if there is another war, civilization will be irretrievably smashed."

"I do not believe it will be possible to rehabilitate it even to the extent we have done after the last war."

"I want Great Britain and the United States to get down to the only solution of this grave problem, by sacrificing some of their over abundant markets and raw materials to those countries like Italy that have not enough for normal expansion. That is not the question now."

"Now it is a question of war. For my part, I am convinced if the United States and Britain, even at this late hour, declare themselves in a united voice, and Italy refused to listen to reason and will not submit the case to arbitration, the world will join in to leave her alone to live her own life apart from the civilized world." Lansbury predicted an Italy-Ethiopian war was "bound to mean a general upheaval."

Questioned early to-day after Premier Reid had conceded the election, the evangelist-economist Social Credit leader said he had nothing to say and also that he did not know whether a by-election would be arranged for him to enter the House and assume leadership of the government.

Mr. Aberhart was not a candidate, preferring to be free to travel about the province to aid the organization as a whole, but during the campaign he had announced if the Social Credit Party was elected to power he would enter the Legislature by means of a by-election.

TO HOLD CAUCUS
Early to-day Mr. Aberhart said a caucus of the elected Social Credit members to name a new premier would be one of the first moves of the new government.

Premier Reid, defeated by W. A. Fallow, Social Credit, in Vermilion, a constituency he has represented since 1921, said the U.F.A. would step out of office "as quickly as possible to meet the will of the people." The premier received 869 votes compared with 2,454 for Mr. Fallow.

The sweeping victory that left even Social Credit optimists gaping, put the first successful Social Credit party in the British Empire in its desired position to affect the monetary reforms—"a basic or national dividend," "just price" and "national money."

Social Credit as led by Mr. Aberhart, who promised he would be paying a basic dividend of at least $25 to every adult in Alberta within eighteen months was endorsed emphatically on its first appearance on the Canadian scene.

MONKEY WHICH WAS FROZEN

Smiling and hungry, a Javanese monkey came back from death in an amazing experiment performed in a Hollywood laboratory. Frozen to death five days previously, the monkey was successfully revived by Dr. Ralph S. Willard, biological research chemist of Hollywood, experimenting with a new method of battling disease. Related over his newest scientific feat, Dr. Willard hopes soon to turn over medical science valuable data for combating ailments which have baffled doctors. The young scientist contends that freezing destroys the membranes in which the bacilli live and that therefore the bacilli, unable to multiply, die within a few hours after the animal is frozen. He believes the process may offer possibilities in the field of cancer research, through restoration of affected tissues. Dr. Willard is shown here with the animal he froze for five days.

Calgary, Aug. 23.—Complete count of first choices on ballots cast in the multiple-member Calgary riding in the Alberta election showed:

A record poll—41,193; the quota should be 5,885; E. C. Manning, Social Credit, elected with 6,067; four other Social Credit candidates and one Liberal; and nine candidates, including the Labor group leader in the last Legislature, lost their deposits.

Emphatic approval of the Alberta Social Credit League was made by electors in Calgary constituency where six members are elected by the proportional representation system. The six Social Credit candidates finished within the first seven. Only J. J. Bowen, Liberal in third place, broke the continuity.

The total number of valid votes was 13,362 more than the 27,831 cast in the by-election of January 19, 1933. In the last general election in 1930, 24,192 votes were cast. The quota, 5,885, was set by dividing the total vote, 41,193 by seven, the number of seats plus one, and taking the next figure larger.

Mr. Manning, youthful secretary to William Aberhart, was well over the quota. His surplus vote will be directed among other candidates according to the proportion of second choice on his 6,067 votes.

W. G. Southern, Labor, was low on the first count and his 172 votes will be given to choices on those ballots. Fred J. White, Labor party leader in the last House, was one of the nine candidates who lost their deposits $100—because they did not get the required proportion of the quota.

Others were: Dr. J. V. Follett and J. V. H. Milvain, both Conservatives; A. J. Llesemer and W. G. Southern, Labor; C. F. Jamieson, Independent; Pat Lennihan, Communist; R. W. Watson, Liberal; and R. H. Parkyn, Independent Labor.

Calgary was represented in the last House by three Conservatives, two Liberals and one Labor.

When the first count was completed, F. Anderson, Social Credit, was second with 5,058; Mr. Bowry, Liberal, with 2,874. The four were Social Credit. F. Gostick had 3,787; J. W. Huggill, K.C., 3,152; O. G. Devenish, 3,032; and Walter Little, 2,962.

HOWSON ELECTED
Edmonton, Aug. 23 (Canadian Press).—With a single city candidate, W. B. Howson, K.C., Liberal party leader, elected on first count, enumerators to-day began the second and succeeding counts of the 37,261 ballots marked in Thursday's record provincial polling. Mr. Howson's total on first count was 9,141, or 3,817 above the election quota of 5,324. Distribution of this surplus among the remaining twenty-five candidates, none of whom received the quota, comprised the second count.

In the 1930 provincial election three Conservatives, one Liberal, one Labor and one U.F.A. were elected, three women contestants were lost on first count by Mrs. Marion Conroy, Liberal, who stood tenth with 1,328 votes. Mrs. T. D. Pittsford, Conservative, was twentieth with 383 and Miss Elsie Wright, C.C.F., twenty-third with 192.

As the second count started at 9 a.m., S. A. G. Barnes, S.C., Dr. W. B. Hall, S.C., D. B. Mullen, S.C., Hon. J. P. Lymburn, U.F.A., and Orvis Kennedy, S.C., were leading for the five seats left open by election of Mr. Howson. D. M. Duggan, Conservative party leader, and G. H. Van Allen, K.C., Liberal, were next in line. First candidate to be eliminated in the recount process was S. Parsons, Labor, with D. Ramsay, Conservative, and A. Farmiloe, Labor, next in line in the low aggregate group.

Labor candidates did not stand high on the first count. James East was nineteenth in line with 505; J. W. Findlay, twenty-first with 331; Carl Berg, twenty-second with 192; S. Bowcott, twenty-fourth with 166; and S. Parsons, twenty-seventh with 53.

Jan Lakemont, Labor-Communist candidate, was thirteenth on the list with 1,066 first choices.

Two remaining Social Credit candidates, Mark Robertson and G. L. King, respectively, stood ninth with 1,244 and fifteenth with 843.

The huge vote polled in Edmonton yesterday shattered all previous records for this city. In fact it was nearly 10,000 greater than the previous high established at the 1934 civic election.

At the last municipal election, 27,688 citizens cast their ballots, compared with 37,261 Thursday. In 1930, when the last provincial election was held, the Edmonton vote totaled 21,879, or 15,382 less than Thursday's record turnout at the polls.

PARTY PLATFORM
Calgary, Aug. 23.—The Alberta Social Credit League, of which William Aberhart, a Calgary high school teacher and religious leader, was the founder, brought before the "equal deal for all citizens."

Its candidates were pledged to a platform promising to:

1. Banish poverty from Alberta.
2. Pay a basic dividend—tentatively set at $25 a month—to every citizen.
3. Establish a "just price" for both producer and consumer.
4. No new money would be used.
5. Non-negotiable securities would be used for the purchase of goods and services.
6. The basic dividend would be collected by a levy.

The sum of $25 has been merely suggested for illustration. It would not be less and as social credit plans move forward it is the plan to increase the monthly dividend payments, if possible.

PLEDGE FIGHT FOR FAITH

Nazi Government Will Not Be Defied, But Catholics
Firm on Tenets

Pulda, Germany, Aug. 23.—The congress at an end, leaders of Germany's Catholic Church returned to their homes to-day pledged to fight for their faith, after drafting a pastoral letter than will be read Sunday in all the Catholic churches of the Third Reich.

The letter will affect 25,000,000 Roman Catholics throughout Germany. No one except the cardinals, archbishops and bishops who drafted the letter—thought to be the most significant since the Blomberg "Kulturkampf"—knew what it contained. Those well-informed in church matters said, however, the letter would not defy the Nazi government, but set forth in firm language the tenets of Catholicism.

The prelates, it was said, would be adamant on the sterilization question and all questions pertaining to the education of the Catholic youth. Nearly 60,000 Germans were sterilized last year, Berlin reported.

The closing ceremony of the Congress took place in the Eighteenth Century cathedral here last night presided over by Adolf Cardinal Bertram of Breslau. The dean of Germany's churches, who was chairman of the conference, celebrated a solemn mass attended by hundreds.

WATCHING FOR ITALIAN SPIES

Mussolini's Agents Reported
To Be Overrunning
Ethiopia

Addis Ababa, Aug. 23.—The Ethiopian government to-day instituted a close watch over the Italian consulate following complaints from Ethiopian quarters that Italian spies were overrunning the country.

The governmental watch for spies was based on complaint Italian agents were operating in the guise of consuls and merchants. The consulates, according to these Ethiopian charges, have neither sufficient Italian subjects nor Italian trade to justify their existence.

The Ethiopians allege that, although Italian trade scarcely exists in northern Ethiopia, Italy has established overland receiving and transmitting equipment and trained operators.

These stations were said to be located at Disale, Debre Marcos, Makalla, Madji, and Harar, all of which are provincial capitals.

The consuls at these points were alleged to be maintaining constant radio communication with the governors of Eritrea and Italian Somaliland.

BAIL GIVEN IN LIQUOR CASE

Halifax, Aug. 23.—Supreme Court trial on fourfold conspiracy charges was ordered to-day for the eleven mariners accused in Canada's alleged $5,000,000 liquor smuggling ring.

Magistrate H. D. Murray committed the nine Nova Scotians and two Prince Edward Islanders at the end of a preliminary hearing into six weeks that barred purported large-scale rum-running activities in Maritime waters.

All the accused were freed on bail after the brief hearing to-day. It totaled $18,000, divided as follows: Colin A. Chisholm, Halifax, $2,500; B. O. Johnson, Halifax, $2,500; Thomas E. Smith, Halifax, $2,500; J. A. Rittley, Riverport, N.S., $2,500; Willoughby Rittley, Lower Lavale, N.S., $2,500; Genos Sanford, Clementsport, N.S., $2,000; Milton Gerhardt, Riverport, $1,000; Jack Tanner, Halifax, $1,000; Perry and Ray Clarke, Summerside, P.E.I., $1,000; and Sydney Dunphy, North Sydney, N.S., $500 each.

"All do not appear in the same category," the magistrate said in handing down decision. "The evidence against some appears much stronger than against others. Against some it appears to be conclusive."

Prosecutor H. P. McKen, K.C., did not object to bail for the accused. They had gone to Montreal willingly when summoned to court there, he pointed out, and had surrendered at Halifax. However, he asked Magistrate Murray to note the offences under which they are charged called for a maximum of seven years in prison.

Aussa is inhabited by Danakils, who live on raw meat and practice barbarous marriage rites. The greatest fear of United States citizens in Ethiopia is that, should Italy defeat Ethiopia in the first major battle, the untutored tribesmen might take reprisals against the whites indiscriminately.

With this in mind, the Emperor has warned all his subjects to show the utmost vigilance and readiness. But many are arming themselves.

Dr. Arthur Torrance of Los Angeles arrived to-day to organize the Ethiopian Red Cross and the Army Medical Corps.

Dr. Richard Hockman, Wheaton, Ill., has started the inoculation of several thousand soldiers against typhoid, smallpox and cholera.

Harar pressed to hold his warriors in check, the Emperor has threatened with death any subject who menaces or assaults an Italian.

Fleet Movements In Mediterranean Cause Speculation

One section of opinion fully expected an attempt to close the Suez Canal. Another sector felt that Great Britain's desire to approach the question of sanctions through Geneva amounted to a plea for escape from the whole embroiled situation.

The prospect Great Britain may invoke sanctions at Geneva, September 4 to obstruct Mussolini's East African policy stirred Italy. Counting Italians echoed the declaration of the authoritative Giornale d'Italia that "sanctions mean war."

Informed circles, however, expressed confidence Italy had sufficient friends among members of the League of Nations to block any move to bring into play the ultimate powers of the Covenant.

The possibility was not ignored that Great Britain might, in the absence of support at Geneva, act independently to protect her interests in Africa should she be convinced they would be jeopardized by Italian occupation of Ethiopia.

The aircraft carrier Miraglia left last night from Naples with additional equipment for the powerful air force Italy has amassed in Eritrea.

SHARES RISE
Copenhagen, Aug. 23 (Associated Press).—Danish shipping shares rose as much as fourteen points to-day, partly accentuated by rumors that Great Britain would close the Suez Canal in sanctions against Italy.

An advance underway during the last fortnight gathered momentum from the possibility of an increased tonnage demand should the rumor be true.

The increases were in Danesborg shares from 73½ to 88; Oriens, from 89½ to 107½; Myren, from 75½ to 82; and Orion, from 29½ to 36½.

The Norwegian insurance companies, association appointed a committee to frame war insurance conditions covering both ship and goods.

The action was taken on the request of a British shipbuilding company, following the boom in shipping shares.

The company, which has built a number of Norwegian ships, chiefly oil tankers, requested the ship owners to buy war insurance since the British shipbuilding company still holds a part mortgage on some of them.

Norway's mercantile fleet comprises 4,000,000 tons.

STRENGTHENING DEFENCES
Associated Press
London, Aug. 23.—Informed quarters said to-day the committee for Imperial defence had approved plans for speeding up the redistribution and reinforcement of military forces at vital points along the Empire's lines of communications.

The committee met at 10 Downing Street with Acting Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald presiding.

Plans for strengthening the defenses of British territory adjacent to Ethiopia and for the reinforcement of all strategic points along the Mediterranean, the Suez Canal, and African areas have been under way quietly for about two months, it was learned, and the decision to speed up the programme was regarded as precautionary.

In official circles, however, it was stated the meeting was not properly a meeting of the Imperial defence committee. In addition to Mr. MacDonald five cabinet ministers were present, all that are remaining in London. A number of the six are members of the defence committee.

The meeting primarily was for the purpose of considering in detail the next move, which is likely to be a note to France. On the nature of the

CHURCHES ARE UNDER GUARD

Confessional Fires in Three
Denver Churches, Believed
Work of Incendiaries

Denver, Colo., Aug. 23.—All Catholic churches in Denver were under guard to-day while police conducted a search for incendiaries who set fire to confessionals in three churches yesterday.

Throughout the night guards were on duty at the churches, which were locked by the priests at orders of William E. Guthrie, city manager of safety.

The fires were quickly extinguished, but three separate flames at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception damaged an $85,000 oil painting and burned part of the interior.

"It must be the work of 'but' admirers of Hitler and the Nazis," said John F. Healy, fire chief.

He said an attempt was made August 8 to burn the Jewish synagogue Beth Shalom Hagodol.

All the fires apparently broke out about the same time. The churches are widely separated.

The painting damaged at the cathedral was "Christ on Calvary," completed in 1840 by F. A. Lundahl, the Swedish artist. The frame was burned and the edges of the painting charred. Damage to the interior was estimated at $200.

Chief Healy said apparently a special effort had been made to destroy the painting since matches were scattered about the church.

At the other two churches, St. Leo's and St. Elizabeth's, was confined to the draperies of the confessionals.

Removes Rivals In Ethiopia

Associated Press
Harar, Ethiopia, Aug. 23.—Emperor Haile Selassie has taken steps to remove the danger of losing his throne to two of his rivals with whom he has been at loggerheads since 1932. It was reported to-day.

Fearing if the Italians invade Harar they might attempt to release the pro-Italian Ras Hailu and make him King of Godjam province under an Italian protectorate, the Emperor is reported to have ordered Ras Hailu removed from Arussa province to Ankober, the ancient capital of Ethiopia, 100 miles from Addis Ababa.

Ras Hailu, once the richest and most powerful prince in the empire, was imprisoned by the emperor in 1932 for coveting the throne.

It is reported in Ethiopia that Baron Franchetti, Italian aviator, recently plotted to rescue Ras Hailu by plane.

Emperor Lij Yasu (Child of Jesus), whom Italians in Ethiopia recently reported dead, is said to have been ordered by Haile Selassie removed by airplane from Naranulata, near Harar, to Addis Ababa to frustrate any attempt of the Italians to liberate him and restore him to the throne.

Poses were formed here and sent to cover all roads leading towards Lytton, Ashcroft and Clinton. Authorities believed the men would head for Lytton and the coast.

Bert Durban, Lillicoet transportation man, had just finished delivering supplies to the two bridge guards when the bandits rushed the crossing. He must have passed within five feet of the lurking robbers, but he did not see them.

Authorities believed the robbers were guided through the Bridge River Canyon by an Indian who is said to have been paid a few dollars for his services. The horses used by the gunmen were believed to have been stolen from Indians.

Delegation To Be Instructed

Canadian Representatives at Geneva Will Be Fully Posted, Bennett Says

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Canada's delegation to the League of Nations assembly meeting in September, headed by James H. Woods, Calgary editor and publisher, will be fully instructed with regard to the stand the Dominion will take should the assembly be called upon to deal with the Italo-Ethiopian difficulties, Premier Bennett declared yesterday. In the meantime no public statement of policy has been made, but one will undoubtedly be forthcoming before the assembly meets.

High government officials here are keenly observing the trend of European activities, while the British government has been keeping the Canadian government constantly informed as to the part the former is playing in peace efforts.

It is understood there has been no request from the government in London for any commitments on the part of the Dominion and that the diplomatic exchanges so far have been purely of an informative nature.

The delegation representing Canada at Geneva next month will be headed by Mr. Woods and will include Professor Edward Montpetit of the University of Montreal and Miss Winifred Kydd, dean of women at Queen's University and head of the National Council of Women.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and some members of the permanent staff from Ottawa, London and Paris will also attend.

Fewer Patients In Duncan Hospital

Duncan, Aug. 23.—Presented at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Duncan Hospital, the financial report showed an operating deficit of $720.22, after allowing for depreciation. The expenditure was $5,211.82, against a revenue of $4,491.60. The cash receipts amounted to $5,189.52. There was a considerable decrease in the number of patients treated during July, and also during August to date. In view of this decrease the house committee were asked to determine if some reduction in overhead could be effected during slack periods.

An inquiry was received from the Fairbridge Farm School, regarding terms for the treatment of their children. The matter will be taken up by the house and finance committees.

NEARS 103rd BIRTHDAY

Ballinacree, Ont., Aug. 23.—(Canadian Press).—An alert old lady, Mrs. Agnes Young, today prepared to celebrate her 103rd birthday, just a week away. Mrs. Young still remembers the excitement of this little settlement at the edge of the Caledon Mountains, northwest of Toronto, when William Lyon Mackenzie led his followers there in 1837. Her father hid his rifle lest it be seized.

Divorce cases are becoming much more numerous in England. In 1913, 557 divorces were granted in England and Wales; for the first three law terms of 1933, the number of petitions in London alone totaled 2,800.

REPORTER FORCED TO LEAVE ROME

"If Mussolini fails in his Ethiopian objectives it will be his finish as dictator," David Darrah, former Rome newspaper correspondent, pictured on his arrival at New York, predicted with the assertion that neither the Italian people nor the British government would tolerate the dictator's rule. He was given three hours to leave Rome.

FIND MAMMAL IN LAVA MOLD

Member of Rhinoceros Family Is Unearthed at Grand Coulee

Ellensburg, Wash., Aug. 23.—The discovery of the nearly complete "mold" in solid lava of a prehistoric mammal—the Teleoceras of the Rhinoceros family—in a bluff at Blue Lake in Grand Coulee was announced here yesterday by Prof. George Beck, staff geologist of the petrified forest in what is now Ninkgo State Park at Vantage, and member of the Ellensburg normal school faculty.

Unlike anything ever found in the world, Prof. Beck said, the mold is an outline in lava, complete except for a small portion of the rump, of an animal which inhabited this area during a period from five to fifteen million years ago.

While bones of such prehistoric animals have been found at many places on the earth's surface, from which skeletons have been reconstructed, Prof. Beck said, a complete mold of a body had never before been located.

The animal, he said, must have been lying in water, and was completely encased in a flow of liquid lava. Protected by the water, the body of the animal was preserved and the lava hardened around it. Eventually it disintegrated to some degree.

Many of the bones remain in the cavity, and etched in the lava are the complete details of the head, body, and legs of the animal, so distinct that the animal's two horns, three-toed feet, nostrils, skin and hair easily discernible.

Scientists will be able, Prof. Beck said, to make plaster casts of sections of the mold and reconstruct the entire body of the animal.

Admits Killing Twenty-seven

Young California Prospector Calmly Tells Gruesome Tale of Many Murders

Associated Press
Auburn, Cal., Aug. 23.—Earl (Bud) Kimball told a group of newspaper reporters yesterday evening that he killed twenty-five other men in the mountain country near here besides slaying James G. Kennett Sr., retired Chicago contractor, and an unidentified red-headed youth whose bodies have been recovered from abandoned mining shafts near Emigrant Gap.

The admission of wholesale murder throughout the rough, sparsely-settled mountains east of here came in a straight-forward, calm manner from the twenty-one-year-old itinerant prospector.

He attempted to fix identifications of five of the victims, adding that he did not recall immediately all of the others who lost their lives at his hands.

Startling and weird as his declaration seemed, it was made in what appeared to be a completely sane frame of mind. Kimball acknowledged the dubious looks which greeted his assertions and laughingly offering to prove them.

Kimball, naming five of the asserted victims other than Kennett and the unidentified youth, said one of them was J. J. (Radium) Johnson, a prospector supposedly missing in the hills.

He said he killed Johnson six weeks ago a mile down the creek from Pulga Flat, scene of the brutal slaying of Kennett and the youth, who were first shot and their skulls afterward caved in with axes.

Describing the killing of Johnson, he said he slugged him with a boulder after an argument over food and shot him down, burying his body beside the creek. He supplied apparently exact directions for locating the remains.

Another victim he named as Fred Realing, or Fred Grilling, a caretaker of a mining camp and previously described by Ben Caplan, a Sacramento junk dealer, as an acquaintance of the prisoner. He also told reporters where the body could be found.

Still another victim was only identified as "Brown," and he described one as a tall, bronzed CCC worker named Middle, who had worked in the camp at Onion Valley.

He said "Eddie" was struck with a brick and his head battered in, the body being hidden in a prospector's hole.

The last asserted victim of the grotesque story of the prisoner was described as Jefferson Baughman, who was known to have been killed mysteriously on December 1, 1933.

Baughman, a rancher, was shot down near Loomis. No solution has ever been offered for his death.

Kimball claimed he shot Baughman with a small calibre rifle after an argument over the asserted ravages of the young prospector's food caches by Baughman's dog.

No direct verification of any of Kimball's gruesome tales was possible to-night. The scene of each of those described lies miles from here back in a mountain country infrequently visited, known to few people.

Whether his assertions are true or the frothing of a twisted mind remained a complete puzzle to-night. While there was no immediate means of proving his statements, neither could any quick check be made to disprove the seemingly impossible story.

"Well, we know he's killed two men in a pretty brutal manner and we have the bodies—who can say there aren't more? Maybe it will solve some of these queer disappearances after all."

Sheriff to Investigate
Kimball claimed he had spent two years in the mountains.

Sheriff Elmer H. Gum, at a loss to fix any plausible interpretation upon the stories, said he would organize a posse and proceed into the hills early to-morrow morning. "He directed us to Kennett's body in a story which sounded almost as silly," Gum declared.

Kimball claimed he killed Johnson in June after Johnson had accused him of killing a steer. Kimball said he followed Johnson to his cabin and, resting a rifle on a tree, "drew a bead on him" and shot him.

"I cut his throat and drank his blood—I have a fever for blood," said the prisoner.

Johnson's body was buried, he said, on the right bank of the Pulga Flat Creek below a foot log bridge which crosses it near the deserted mining camp.

Associated Press
Bari, Italy, Aug. 23.—A virtual state of siege reigns in Albania following the recent revolutionary movement, travelers from that country reported yesterday on arrival here.

They reported there are 600 persons under arrest in Tirana, the capital. They include twenty superior officials and many government functionaries.

The courtmartial, which began a few days ago under Colonel Ali Riza, intended to try those suspected of revolutionary tendencies with the greatest rapidity.

The travelers said the leader of the revolt was Chekvet Bey Vriasi, whose daughter was once betrothed to King Zog. It was reported the government had advance information of the revolutionary movement.

HOMAGE PAID TO WILEY POST

Body of Dauntless Aviator Is Laid to Rest in Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City, Aug. 23.—The body of Wiley Post, aerial globe circler and dauntless voyager of the upper air, rested in a crypt in Fairlawn Mausoleum here to-day.

At almost the same hour yesterday millions of Americans paid deepest homage to the two Oklahomans who died in the Alaska airplane crash a week ago—Post, the stratosphere flier, and Will Rogers, cowboy-philosopher and screen favorite.

"He died doing what he wanted to do," declared the Rev. W. R. White, who led the hour-long funeral service for Post at the First Baptist Church.

The church was crowded with sober-faced men and women. Outside the streets were thick with others who stood in the hot sunshine until the casket was borne out through a guard of honor.

Rev. M. M. Evans, pastor of the landmark missionary Baptist Church at Mayville, home of Post's parents, spoke briefly.

At noon Post's body was removed from the rotunda of the Oklahoma capitol, where it lay in state, and official tribute was delivered by Governor E. W. Marland.

Nudists Say Farmer Peeked

New Jersey Health Institute Swears Out Warrant Against W. Searles

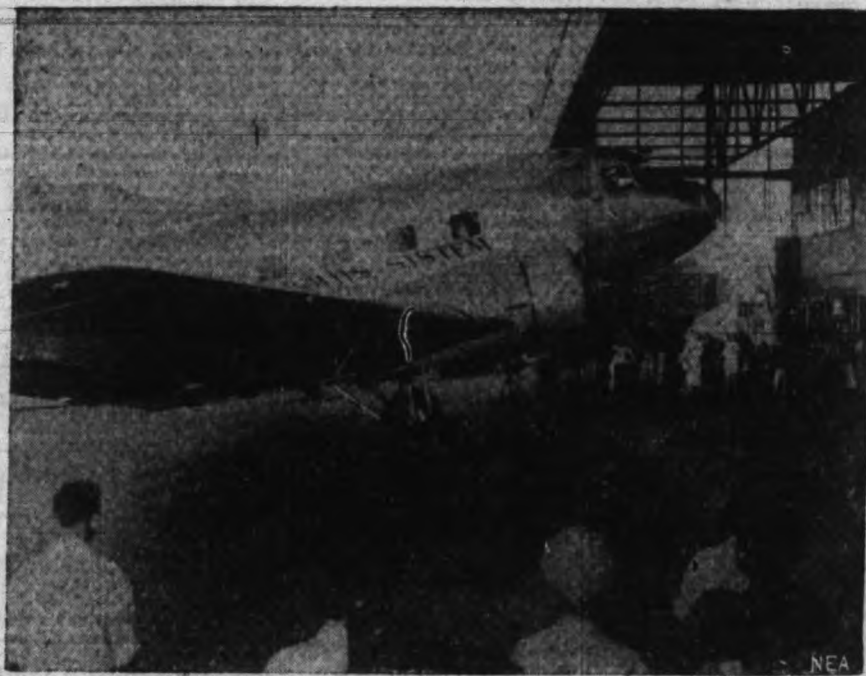

Long Valley, N.J., Aug. 23.—The 200 citizens of Long Valley were in a fury of indignation to-day at the North Jersey Health Institute, nudist camp on Schooley's Mountain, a few miles from here. It seems the institution has sworn out a warrant against Will Searles, whose property adjoins the camp, for peeking.

Searles said he had been picking blackberries near the fence which separates his land from the camp, and had seen several men and women running about with no clothes on. He had shouted across the fence to the nudists that they were behaving improperly, he said.

He received a laughing reply from a young woman in the group advising him to take off his clothes and "come on over," he related.

Searles said he turned his back on his unclothed hecklers and stalked off. Then the institute swore out a warrant accusing Searles of trespassing.

Would Limit Neutrality Act

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 23.—Authoritative sources disclosed yesterday although President Roosevelt was willing for the United States Senate's neutrality legislation to become law, he hoped it first would be made only temporary.

Chairman McReynolds had just called the House foreign affairs committee into session to consider the seven-point measure which swept through the Senate Wednesday.

It was reported his plan, in line with an agreement reached at a White House conference Wednesday night was to:

1. Limit the life of the legislation until next February or March, so further study could be given before a permanent law is enacted;

2. Approve the major provisions of the Senate bill;

3. Add to it a mandatory ban against loans or credits to warring nations or against the sale or purchase of their securities in this country.

All provisions probably will be mandatory. Such a law, it was contended, would assure Americans they were not likely to become embroiled in any immediate foreign troubles. It also would leave a temporary neutrality act on the statute books until well after the next session convenes.

Hospital Heads To Meet Here

Annual Convention of B.C. Association Set For November 13

(Special to the Times)

Duncan, Aug. 23.—The annual convention of the British Columbia Hospitals Association will be held at the Empress Hotel, in Victoria, on November 13, 14, and 15. It was announced at the Duncan Hospital Board meeting this week.

The date has been set later than usual, to allow Dr. Harvey Agnew, secretary of the Hospital Council of Canada, and Dr. Malcolm McEachern, associate director of the American College of Surgeons, to attend. State health insurance will be one of the main subjects to come up for discussion.

Body of Rogers Placed in Crypt

U.S. Nation Pays Farewell Tributes to Great Citizen

Canadian Press
Los Angeles, Aug. 23.—Honored in death as he was beloved in life, Will Rogers lay in a flower-banked funeral crypt to-day.

His stocky, rough-hewn body rested in the mausoleum at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, but the real Will Rogers was a living memory to those who yesterday accorded him probably the greatest farewell tribute ever given a private citizen.

The body was taken to the crypt after a brief private ceremony in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather. It will rest there for a while until Mrs. Rogers takes it to Oklahoma for a final burial.

While these rites were being said, the life of a whole community stopped. Countless thousands of people participated, in one way or another, in the homage to Rogers' memory.

Starting at 7 o'clock in the morning, some 50,000 folk filed past the body, lying in state in a grove of trees at Forest Lawn. An even greater number failed to gain entrance. The body lay for five hours, and a cordon of police moved the crowd as fast as possible.

But there was not enough time. In the afternoon, while fewer than 300 invited guests went to the private services at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, 10,000 gathered at the Hollywood Bowl and an unnumbered host assembled in the movie studios and the community Presbyterian Church in Beverly Hills.

At the chapel, a mountain of flowers was massed, the wreaths, bouquets and funeral pieces coming from all over the country. The entire lawn, outside, stretching down the whole side of the hill, was blanketed with them.

More typical of Rogers were the songs sung in his memory. At the private services, John Boles, film actor, sang the cowboy-philosopher's favorite, "Old Faithful," at one studio James Melton, radio star, sang "Home on the Range," at another Joe Morrison, actor singer, "The Last Round-up," at still another, Nino Martin, celebrated opera singer, "Agnus Dei."

Boles' voice, strong at first, wavered twice as he sang behind the screen of flowers at the chapel.

Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, former pastor of Tremont Temple Baptist Church, Boston, and Temple Baptist, Los Angeles, was deeply affected as he led the service at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, describing Rogers as he had known him.

"He has been the one figure in the life of our nation who has drawn to himself the admiration and the love of all classes of people," Dr. Brougher said.

The clergyman then read Will Rogers' own introduction to a book, written by the cowboy-artist Charlie Russell. Russell, Dr. Brougher said, had died before it was finished, and Rogers wrote the introduction in the form of a personal letter to his friend in the next world.

"I guess God needed a good man in a hurry," Dr. Brougher read. Then his voice broke and tears welled into his eyes.

A quartette sang "O Gentle Presence," with its reassuring refrain, "Lo, I Am With You Always." An organ sobbed softly. The service was over. So passed Will Rogers. MEMORIAL PLANNED

Associated Press
Claremore, Okla., Aug. 23.—Will Rogers' estate, now turned from eulogy of its famous son to lay plans for a fitting memorial.

The city council will name a committee later to-day to handle the scores of small contributions that have been sent here, and consider various plans presented.

One suggestion was to build a monument on a tract of land owned by Rogers that overlooks the city. On frequent trips to Claremore Rogers used to say: "Some day I'm coming back to Claremore to live, and build my home right there."

Will C. Kates, editor of The Claremore Progress, suggested converting into a national shrine the ranch-house near Oologah, where Rogers was born.

More than 6,000 persons sat in broiling heat at the Will Rogers airport yesterday to hear Congressman Josh Lee laud the actor-philosopher as one of the greatest Americans.

News of the death of Rogers and Wiley Post in an Alaskan plane crash Lee described as "the saddest news since the assassination of Abraham Lincoln."

Triple Tragedy On Alberta Farm

D. Larsen Slays Two at Amisk and Then Commits Suicide

Canadian Press
Amisk, Alta., Aug. 23.—Samuel Seright, seventy-five, prominent farmer near here, and his housekeeper, Miss Hilda Olsen, twenty, were shot and killed at the Seright home Wednesday by David Larsen, thirty-five, who ended his own life after attempting to slay two hired men at the Seright home.

Cornelius McKenna, twenty-seven, one of the hired men, was shot in the head as he barricaded himself in an upstairs hallway in the home as the killer approached, and then followed his brother, Dan, twenty-five, through a window to safety.

Police said Larsen was Seright's hired man for seven years and left the home Tuesday following an argument. He returned late Wednesday night and found everyone in bed. He shot the old man through a shoulder, leg and thigh, cut his victim's throat, and shot him twice more through the back.

Then he went to the room of the housekeeper, who had been at the home for a month, shot her in the head and cut her throat. By this time Cornelius and Dan McKenna were scrambling around upstairs in an effort to escape, and one bullet caught Cornelius in the hand a moment before he went through a window with his brother. Larsen followed into the room, saw they had escaped, then cut his own throat and shot himself in the head.

Amisk is 150 miles southeast of Edmonton on the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A SOCIAL CREDIT GOVERNMENT

IT WAS DENOUNCED ALMOST UNANIMOUSLY by the press and the speakers of the U.F.A. government and of the old-line parties as "the most deadly political quackery ever brought to the polls," as "the panic nostrum of a fanatic" and as "pure delusion." But the people of Alberta have voted for the Aberhart Social Credit scheme in a sweep that at the moment appears to have given the Social Crediters fifty-eight out of the total of sixty-three seats in the Legislature. Premier Reid, the leader of the United Farmers of Alberta party, and at least five members of his cabinet have been defeated in the incomplete returns of yesterday's provincial election. Only two Liberals seem to have been elected, one being the provincial party leader, Mr. W. R. Howson, K.C., in Edmonton. Mr. D. M. Duggan, the Conservative party leader, was defeated.

For weeks, the rest of Canada has been looking on the campaign under way in Alberta as one of the maddest scrambles in the history of Canadian politics. One Toronto journalist, sent out to see what was going on, had described it as "people going mad in mobs." Mayor McGeer had been brought in from Vancouver to crusade against Social Credit. Eddie Shore, the hockey star of the Boston Bruins mounted the platform to attack it. The bankers and financial interests of the east sent experts and counsellors to assist in enlightening and guiding public opinion "back to sanity." They and the U.F.A., Liberal, Conservative and Labor parties threw all their forces against a bald, bespectacled elderly public school teacher and head of the Prophetic Bible Institute, who had an idea inspired by Major Douglas, the British engineer-economist, who toured western Canada more than a year ago.

This public school teacher, William Aberhart, had been promulgating his ideas over the radio and at meetings in both cities and country. He offered a new system of social economics, promising to pay every citizen twenty-five dollars a month as a social dividend. He preached his ideas with evangelistic fervor. A province-wide Social Credit League arose to bring his ideas into operation. The farming sections and then the cities' populations caught and were fired with his zeal. With something akin to a religious fanaticism, they responded to his appeal as he and they went into the election.

Edmonton to-day reported the extent of the victory had left even the Social Credit optimists gasping. It has at least amazed the rest of the country, possibly startling the ever-nervous conservative money centres in the east. But as to its direct effect, it will mean little, as no basic fundamental change in the economic system can be made by any province. This point was well emphasized, from his own experience, by Mayor McGeer, speaking last week at Edmonton. "Years ago," said he, "I was something like Aberhart in so far as I thought you could set up a monetary system in the province. It was a fine idea, but when I went to the British Columbia Legislature, I found out that the bankers had got there first. Monetary reformers, and others demanding radical legislation must realize that all details of Canada's monetary system are in the hands of the Dominion Government. Mr. Aberhart apparently has yet to discover the fact." And the voters of Alberta have yet to learn it.

When we try to estimate the definite results of yesterday's sweep, we must recall that Alberta has for most of its short history as a province been a laboratory for political experimentation. Henry Wise Wood, in its early days, brought from Missouri the homespun political doctrine known as populism. The growing province was inoculated with it, and it has been manifesting itself in various ways politically ever since. Fourteen years ago it was the underlying philosophy of those who led the ultra-radical U.F.A. party to power. Years in office have sobered its leaders and turned it into a moderately conservative political organization. Tiring for the moment of such political respectability, the traditionally radical Alberta stepped out to try a new drink, which has ended in a bit of a spree.

There is this that is significant, however, in stepping out, Alberta has, for the moment at least, found little attraction in the offerings of the old-line provincial parties. Alberta may not know exactly what she wants, but, impatient with what she has been getting, will try anything for a change.

RATHER SMUG!

ARTHUR BRISBANE, COLUMNIST FOR the Hearst newspapers, tells Britain that if she wants to know what the policy of the United States will be with respect to the possible war between Ethiopia and Italy, it is this:

If she wants to know the policy of ninety out of a hundred ordinary Americans, and 100 per cent of all common-sense Americans, it would be this:

To mind our own business; let European nations, alternately murdering each other and robbing international nations, attend to their business, in their way.

United States policy now, with Italy swallowing Ethiopia, should be exactly what it was when their British friends were busy swallowing the lands of the Boers, absorbing that country with its valuable gold and diamond mines.

They did nothing then, why should they invent a special policy for Mussolini now?

There is a good deal of logic in Mr. Brisbane's argument. The Boer War, of course, was a Tory war; but, after all, the signing of the peace treaty in the April of 1902 was followed a few years afterwards by the Act of Union, an Act of Parliament passed at Westminster, which brought brilliant statesmen from South Africa, a few years afterwards, into the orbit of British Empire affairs. It was a Liberal Government Act, piloted through the House of Commons by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman.

Samuel and Horatio, both generals in the Boer army from 1899 till 1902—not forgetting Botha, most famous of Boer generals, are still saluting the Union Jack—but to come back to Mr. Brisbane's comment and its application to Britain's imperialism, if the term may be used, we ought to consider this dispatch from Washington to-day:

Italy's purchase this August of high-powered United States airplane engines are shown to-day to have exceeded shipments for all 1934. Figures of the air commerce bureau, based on the certificates of airworthiness issued on plane exports, showed sixteen engines already have been certified and that six more are pending. Air commerce records showed only twelve engines shipped in 1934.

It is none of Canada's business how many airplane engines the United States sells to Italy or any other country; but why the smug comment of Mr. Brisbane?

CANADIANS WILL OWN IT

MR. MONTAGU NORMAN, GOVERNOR of the Bank of England, is in Canada. The governor of the Bank of Canada met him in Montreal.

We are told by a contemporary that Mr. Graham Towers, the governor of the Bank of Canada—not owned by the people—lost no time in getting to Montreal from Ottawa to meet his associate.

Our contemporary hits the nail on the head when it says: "In England, Montagu Norman is a sort of mysterious legend. One-third of the people believes in him; one-third is afraid of him; and another third is dead against him."

"The whole liberal school of thought, including the London Chamber of Commerce, claims that he is a money dictator who has achieved powers greater than those of Parliament or even greater than those of the Throne."

"We do not say that Premier Bennett has invited Mr. Norman over here to extend his dictatorial province over the financial affairs of Canada."

"But with an election coming up in which the status of the Bank of Canada is so vitally involved, his presence appears a trifle queer."

When Mr. Mackenzie King is elected to office on October 14, one of the first things he will do when a new Parliament assembles will be to turn the Bank of Canada over to the Canadian people—and there will be nothing which Mr. Montagu Norman will be able to do about it.

DOES CANADA WANT GUIDE BOOKS?

NO CANADIAN ABOUT TO VISIT Europe for the first time would dream of going without some sort of guide book. He or she would want to know which spots are the most worth seeing, which have the greatest historical or scenic interest, which places he or she could afford to visit.

Yet for the Canadian who is traveling in Canada there are almost no up-to-date guide-books at all; and that is a pity, because Canada is an immense country, and few of us are very familiar with much of it outside of our own immediate bailiwicks.

Here is a chance for some enterprising publishing house to give us a Canadian Baedeker.

GETTING NERVY

JERSEY CITY IS A LONG WAY FROM Africa, and the difficulties between Mussolini and Haile Selassie ought not to disturb the peace and dignity of folk living on the banks of the Hudson. Nevertheless, Jersey City had an ugly little riot the other day, when a hundred or more colored people and citizens of Italian descent clashed in a series of fights over the prospect of war in Ethiopia.

That such a trouble could arise so far from the actual scene of where the fighting may be is a surprising thing—and it is, also, a testimonial to the way men's minds and emotions are on edge, these days, disturbed by strange and violent currents blowing in from the outer edge of things.

If American citizens in Jersey City can come to blows over a dispute that does not directly affect them, how much easier it must be to set men fighting one another overseas, where the issues involved in such disputes touch every man most intimately!

Just Folks

CONQUEST

Two years ago the stubble leered at him
And great gray boulders stood to bar his way;
Old dying trees with twisted trunk and limb
Snarled in defiance like wild beasts at bay.

Others from time to time had scanned the space,
But had not dared the struggle to begin;
So tangled were the growths which ruled the place
That few who passed it by would venture in.

And then he came and vowed to clear the land,
With drag and chain he slowly inched his way;
At night some new attack he sat and planned,
At dawn undaunted he resumed the fray.

I saw him once at battle and I thought
His courage and his patience all in vain.
To-day I passed the field whereon he fought
And it was flaming gold with ripening grain.

One is back, but only just—and, of course, it is too early to talk sense in this space—and you'll just have to wait 'till to-morrow—when it should be possible to come down to earth again.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

BACK

WELL, I AM BACK; and our feelings over this event are probably mutual. I am back and my friends stop me on the street and ask me about the fishing with a certain leering scepticism as if they didn't believe I went fishing at all. In a province where nearly everybody takes his holidays touring in California (see report of Dominion Bureau of Statistics) it is becoming a rarity for any British Columbian to stay at home; rarer still for him to choose deliberately, of his own free will, to go into the wilderness when he can go to Seattle or Bellingham, Wash., and attend the same movies that will be shown here the following week.

You know what a grisly feeling it is to come back to work. One never gets into the swing of it for several months, until it is really time for another holiday. It is not the work that gets a man down now-a-days, but the rest from it. It's this working between holidays that spoils every thing. On the other hand, it is a glorious feeling to come back home utterly emptied of world affairs, purged of politics, drained of economics and world problems and not even knowing the date of the federal election. It gives you a sense of well-being, of innocence and a kind of cleanliness to be washed clean of human affairs. But one soon becomes contaminated. Before the week is out you'll find me quite civilized again.

TWO WORLDS

ONE THING which never fails to astound me on coming down the road from the interior is the extraordinary gap between one end of the road and the other. At 6 o'clock in the morning we are breaking our camp in the mountains east of Hope, a long peak and a weary trail for the nearest automobile road. At dinner-time we are hurtling along Granville Street between the traffic signs, caught up in the swirl of Vancouverites going home to dinner in their swarms of automobiles.

Our lunch is a jam sandwich and a drink of icy water from a tiny creek where we have set down our packs for a few minutes' rest. We eat our dinner in a Vancouver dump where a radio is shrieking and everybody is reading the racing extra of the newspapers. We have come from one world into another. At the moment we have no hesitation in deciding which is the better.

FRANKENSTEIN

BRITISH COLUMBIA is like that. You can jump into half a dozen different civilizations and ways of life in a day's journey, but few do it. Up the Cariboo Highway, in fact, they say that we people on the coast have ruined their tourist industry this year by talking so much about the bad roads of the interior. There are fewer cars than ever going into the interior this year, they say, and they blame it mostly on us. Instead, the tourists are coming to Vancouver Island, where the roads, despite the complaints of the natives, are the best in the province.

Actually, the roads into the interior are all right, and no one need fear to drive on them. But there has been such a howl about them in Vancouver and Victoria that we scared off not only the American tourist but our own people as well. This makes us very popular in the interior where we have always been regarded as a sort of Frankenstein, crushing the rest of the country.

TWENTY CENTS

WELL, YOU REALIZE that you are getting back into civilization and the world of educated men when you hit the first road camps of the federal government. You have come from the wilderness where men work hard on the trail from dawn to dark, and like it. You have been fishing with fellows like Sumallo Bill Robinson, who travels thirty or thirty-five miles in the day with seventy pounds on his back? And then you come out on the main road and find the economic side of the relief camps, where a hundred men will be scattered along the road and not ten of them showing any indication of motion, any semblance of life.

They get paid twenty cents a day and they work just that much, which is precisely what you or I would do under the same conditions. They holl on their shovels or sit on their wheelbarrows and gaze at you listlessly, like so many prisoners in a jail.

They have been working along the roads for years now, hundreds of them, and all you can see for this effort is a little widening here and there, a pathetic picking away at the rocks and dirt where, with the same amount of money spent in real wages, you would have a whole highway system reconstructed. You can be sure when you come upon a gang of men actually working on the road that they are employed by the provincial government and are not wards of the National Defence Department.

NUDISTISTS

ANOTHER PHENOMENON to be noted along the roads of British Columbia this season is the sweep of nudism through our western civilization. Everywhere you go men are garbed in pants only, nothing above the middle, for up there, of course, they do get summer, which is such a rare phenomenon down here. And the young men, brown as Indians across the shoulders, are a refreshing sight. "They're just the sort of fellows," says one of our party who is cynical because he caught only ten fish, "who will be useful to fight for the Ethiopians."

And so you come back to find the world in its customary state of crisis, which has become the normal thing. That you can endure. You can endure even the federal election, and its postponement until the middle of October, which means a long and weary campaign in which no one is really interested, since the result already is known.

You can endure all that but there is one dying act of the Bennett government which will not be forgiven. I mean, of course, the disastrous decision to fix Thanksgiving Day in the middle of the week.

We are used to world crises and the general collapse of civilization we can face without a tremor; but why did Mr. Bennett have to remove the customary long Thanksgiving week-end when a fellow could get in his last good holiday of the year? Mr. Bennett, it is true, may have nothing to be thankful for, but many other people have. The long holiday itself was sufficient blessing to make one grateful.

It almost looks as if the government of Canada, knowing that it is going out on its ear, were inflicting this last pin prick on an ungrateful electorate.

Any political party which wants to get elected should pledge itself to fix all holidays on Mondays. That is a better and more comprehensive programme than most political parties are elected on. And it is almost unique in that it can actually be carried out.

DYING

YOU COME BACK also to find the summer almost dying. Up at our lake they are about to begin the last ad rites before school reopens. The little boy from next door is coming to his first birthday party, bringing him back to town with him. Armand is figuring on taking his rock lizards home to Vancouver. Dickie had his birthday party but, so far as the little boy from next door was concerned, it turned out a flop; there was nothing in the cake but cake. Armand, it seems, got the nickel and the host himself found the dime. And the summer is almost dead and to-morrow, in this space, we shall get down to earth again.

The politicians may be thinking that a war will solve our employment problems and stave off the ultimate reckoning for a while. They will be jumping from the frying pan into the fire. Now their system is dying slowly, but if they jump into war the system will go up in the smoke and flames of a world-wide revolution.

BUYERS CROWD FOR FALL GOODS

Dun and Bradstreet Report
15 to 40 Per Cent Gains in Wholesale Volume

New York, Aug. 22.—Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., today say that, contrary to the expected reaction, wholesale markets were even more crowded than a week earlier, particularly in the women's wear division. Volume of fall orders thus far ranges all the way from 15 to 40 per cent ahead of the comparative 1934 showing, depending on the type of merchandise.

Although buying of men's and women's clothing and accessories took the lead, percentage gains were large in orders of giftware, housewares, curtains, table silver, and jewelry. The average gain for dry goods, with deferred deliveries included, was between 20 and 25 per cent. In nearly all purchases more emphasis was placed on the better grades of merchandise than last year.

Mail orders also were more numerous than last week, with full-line requests for late summer items still bulking large, although some of these could not be filled. Re-orders for fur garments broadened, but the number received for cloth coats was small. There was more interest noted in fall dresses, millinery, and shoes, while orders were heavy for sweaters, two-piece knit outfits, gloves, and handbags. Boys' clothing was bought liberally for late August promotions, while movement of young men's suits continued large, and there was a stronger call for top-coats, men's furnishings, and hats.

Fewer complaints were heard regarding the rising price trend in many lines, as diminishing inventories forced immediate replacement, and the current strength of consumer buying left small room for doubt regarding the extent of fall merchandise movements. Crowding so much of the business into August, however, has produced fresh anxieties regarding delayed deliveries. Grocery orders made a good showing, but buying of canned goods failed to increase to any extent, in view of the enlarged stocks. Demand for dried fruits was sufficiently strong to sustain previous gains.

INDUSTRIAL AVERAGE HIGHER

Industrial operations went ahead at an unusual pace for this time of the year, the average running 20 to 35 per cent higher than for the first half of August, 1934, with many factories reporting output for the seven months at 40 to 60 per cent ahead of last year's figures. The steel industry received a new uplift from the automotive trade, while farm equipment makers continued conspicuously large takers, and interest in structural steel and rails strengthened. Expansion programmes launched by various automobile manufacturers have released substantial orders for machinery, annealing furnaces, conveyor systems, air-conditioning units, and plant modernization equipment.

Manufacturers of building materials made further additions to working forces to keep abreast with the improvement in construction. Building permit values for July exceeded those of June by 2.8 per cent, in contrast to a usual seasonal decline of around 10.5 per cent, which lifted the total 60 per cent above the July, 1934, figures. While the aggregate for the seven months ran ahead of the 1934 comparative by 52.7 per cent, the amount represented but a small percentage of normal. Shipments of plumbing supplies and sanitary ware have widened steadily during the last three weeks, and most manufacturers' schedules topped the 1934 level by 20 to 25 per cent.

Advancing prices brought more orders to cotton-goods mills and production was increased moderately, as sales started to run ahead of output. Some of the fine goods mills opened a few more looms, after a prolonged curtailment. Rayon weavers continued well occupied, while silk mills were more active, as buyers realized that the end of the current rise in the raw material market is not yet in sight. Extending the improvement in July, shoe production has been up a ward since the first of the current month, and some of the manufacturers have been forced to raise prices, owing to higher leather costs.

PERSONALITY

Portland, Ore., Aug. 23.—Street cleaners, by all means, must have personality.

George Reis, superintendent of streets, says personality is of vital importance to white wings, and he so informed a delegation of candidates for jobs who objected to grades given them when they took a civil service test. The highest mark for personality was 87.5.

"HEY! COME BACK AND SEE YOURSELF START"

THAT is how a neighbor saluted me yesterday morning as I bounced along the walk past his door, approaching my office.

"Start? I started an hour and a half ago, seven miles away."

"Yes, you did not." (And he looked his disbelief.) "Why, it only 7.30." But I had started at 6 a.m. to walk to my office seven miles away to arrive by 7.30 and I was arriving on time, July 24th, hot and humid. I had only to point to my sweat-soaked shirt to convince him. I walk those nearly seven miles each morning when it rains. Torontonians and ex-Torontonians will believe it when I say I walk from Westminster Hotel on Jarvis near Dundas Street, where I have resided for some months, to the head of Pacific Avenue in West Toronto. For years I have walked five miles each morning but I find it now a real delight to walk seven miles. Scores of early-rising Torontonians see me, bareheaded, coat and vest, shirt with short sleeves and rolled collar, bounding along on Matthews Guild moccasin-type shoes, up Jarvis, to Bloor, to Dundas, to Pacific, to Vine and my office.

Occasionally, a fellow pedestrian enquires to walk with me. He keeps up with me for a few blocks, then finds an excuse to turn into a side street. The farthest any one has held out is five blocks. At my office I take a shower and more exercises. Am I tired after these long walks? No! I am ecstatic! I could easily turn and walk back and still feel ecstatic. My busy day has just begun and will not end before 7.30 to 9.30 p.m. and then I may, as I frequently do, walk back again, (almost always in cool weather). On holidays I often extend my walk around by "The Old Mill", adding another five miles.

Most persons think this is a remarkable accomplishment, at almost 78. Well, it is not. It is what everyone could easily do at that age by living, and especially feeding, rationally.

It is almost entirely a matter of blood condition, which can be toxic or non-toxic, vital or devitalized, normally fluid and easily circulated, or viscous (ropy) and circulated with difficulty and heart strain, depending upon whether the foods eaten build vital, non-toxic, alkaline and fluid blood or the other kind.

It is claimed 98% of our accustomed foods are the other kind, that build devitalized non-resistant bodies, while science says only 20% may be that. That is why my youthful elasticity, flexibility, resilience and endurance of body and mind are considered remarkable only by comparison with bodies so built. I give thought to the selection of my foods. Others do not. They select, without thought, de-natured, devitalized and acid-toxin-forming foods and their bodies are the non-vital, non-resistant and non-resistant kind that such foods build. Surely it is time thinking people began to think rationally about their foods. I shall gladly mail to thinking people, free, my literature covering the foods I eat to build my type of vigorously healthy, and resistant, youthful body, upon request. Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub form a large part of my food intake, and the most important part. I could not have achieved my type of youthful, resistant body at almost 78 without them. Now, although Summer is waning, there will be still plenty of hot, humid days. My recommendation for these days is the above-named foods made into porridge and served off the ice, with fruit jelly, honey or maple syrup and cream, and for a drink, alkaline-forming Kofy-Sub. But there are other foods that play an important part about that the health seeker should know about. This knowledge is free. Surely worth writing about, address Robt. G. AIRPORT PLAN IS DISCUSSED

Possibility of Temporary
License For Lansdowne
Field Considered By City

After discussing possible methods of securing at least a temporary license to use Lansdowne Field as an airport, members of the industrial and trades development committee of the City Council yesterday tabled the matter pending the gathering of further information on costs of putting the field in condition.

Next Thursday the committee will meet again with representatives of Saanich and Oak Bay present to discuss the feasibility of joint action on the scheme, if permission to use the field is secured from Ottawa.

The matter was an outgrowth of recent discussions by the City Council covering the airport question.

To make any headway on the scheme the committee will have to know if and under what terms the field could be leased, and whether or not its use as a temporary base will be sanctioned by Ottawa.

Quoting Colonel Charles Lindbergh, Alderman Archie Willis and Ernest Eve declared Lansdowne Field would be suitable for use if certain minor improvements were carried out. In order to further the issue, Alderman Willis suggested R. Carter Guest, director of civil aviation, be invited to come to Victoria and outline what work would have to be done before a temporary license would be granted. Mr. Eve declared there was no hope of the federal government establishing an airport here. He made it clear he favored no particular field, being only anxious to see Victoria provided with some sort of airport facilities.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar and Alex Feden voiced the opinion Oak Bay and Saanich should assist the city in its efforts.

FORMER OBJECTION

The former objection to the use of the field, that voiced by those interested in the Jubilee Hospital, who declared the noise would be a constant nuisance, was raised.

Information from A. R. C. Morton, of the city engineer's office, and Ernest Eve indicated the field could be put into shape at a reasonable cost. Upkeep would run about $2,500 annually, Mr. Morton declared, stating that figure would also cover insurance, rental and payment of part time employees.

He was instructed to gather more complete details on the cost of putting the field into suitable condition. Victoria is in the unfortunate position of having no licensed airport, and is being passed up by many ships at present. Several planes have come here this summer and landed at Lansdowne Field, but the Ottawa authorities have instructed the city again that this field must not be used and that customs clearances will be refused in future.

Victoria ratepayers refused to sanction the Gordon Head airport, on which it was proposed to spend $250,000, and the City Council has repeatedly stated that it will do nothing of a permanent nature in face of this. Members of the council, however, are endeavoring to see if something cannot be done to gain a temporary license for a landing field somewhere, so that the city may be on the air map.

Vancouver has profited immensely by its new airport, and needs additional accommodation.

The Bulgarians were in confusion, and some even threatened revolt when, in 1898, it was reported that Prince Ferdinand, who later became King Ferdinand, and Princess Marie-Louise, both devout Roman Catholics, were going to have their child baptized into the Roman faith. It was contrary to the Bulgarian constitution, but that law was altered to permit this.

The Bulgarians are devoted to the church of Byzantium, the Orthodox faith of the Greeks and others in east Europe, and to have their future ruler of the Roman faith shocked them severely.

Russia came to their rescue. In 1894, the rivalry between that country and Bulgaria took a turn for the better, and Prince Ferdinand sought every means to cement the new relationship. So, on Feb. 2, 1896 (Feb. 14, by the new calendar), Prince Boris, heir to the throne of Bulgaria, was baptized into the Orthodox faith, and Bulgaria rejoiced.

This event was marked in the same year by a stamp illustrating the royal coat of arms and designating the day on which Prince Boris was baptized.

Ireland Sees Better Days In New Amity With Britain

President Eamon de Valera, left, chatting with Alvin Mansfield Owsley, the new American minister to the Irish Free State, after the minister presented his credentials at Dublin castle.

Special Correspondence

London.—It is that jaunty torador, Eamon de Valera, still governing John Bull, or are English Bull and Irish bullfighter about to kiss and make up after all these years?

The question has been frequently asked of late, not only since Stanley Baldwin has succeeded Ramsay MacDonald as Premier of Britain, but because of speeches being made recently by de Valera and J. M. Thomas, British Minister of the Dominions.

Those speeches both have given rise to widespread belief that behind the scenes strenuous efforts are being made to find a formula which both Britain and the Free State can sign without either losing face.

But signs like this have been seen often in the past and something always comes along to upset the Irish potato cart at the last minute.

On the face of it President de Valera's speech to the Dail was about fifty-fifty: 50 per cent twisting of the lion's tail and 50 per cent court plaster to soothe the hurts of said twisted tail.

With an eye to the wild men in the Irish Republican army, de Valera said the Free State's constitution had been imposed upon it. Before his term expired, he hoped to bring in an all-Irish constitution without consulting any outside country.

But he went on to say that it was to Ireland's advantage to be on friendly terms with Britain in trade matters. In fact, he would like to see an arrangement where each country would purchase good for pound from the other. He was even prepared to give Britain the preference where Ireland had to buy on the outside. He spoke of reconciliation with Britain REMOVES BRITISH FEAR.

Then he said something which removed a weight off the minds of the British admiralty:

"So long as my administration is in office and, in fact, the same applies to any administration, Irish territory will never be permitted to be used as a base of attack on Britain."

British naval men have all along realized that a hostile Ireland, with its rocky indented coasts would be a convenient base for enemy submarines unless Ireland pronounced a big "NO." That negative has now been pronounced. Secretary for the Dominions Thomas was quick to make an equally conciliatory speech.

In the meantime, at home, President de Valera bids fair, despite all opposition, to remain at the helm. Fine Gael, the party of former Premier Cosgrave, does not seem to have made any great gains.

The Blue Shirts, started by General O'Duffy, are split into factions.

REPUBLICAN ARMY OPPOSED

The Irish Republican army, which for so long supported de Valera, is now opposed to him. For a time, he

PUBLIC NUISANCES

New York, Aug. 23.—The League for Less Noise has evolved its own list of public enemies. Taxicabs are ranked first among the most "noisy" nuisances. Next come loud radios and barking dogs.

ESKIMOS HAVE GOOD TEETH

Trouble With Molars Comes
When They Desert Native
Diet

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 23.—Eskimos have no dental decay until they desert their native diet to eat the white man's food, Dr. C. C. Birchard, lecturer in dentistry, said yesterday on his return from an inspection tour of the Hudson Bay district. Dr. Birchard left Montreal July 13 in the steamship Nascope owned by the Hudson's Bay Company, and returned from Churchill by train after inspecting the jaws of scores of Eskimos in the eastern Arctic.

One amazing thing is that I saw not a single sign of tooth decay among all those whom I examined until we came to Port Harrison on Hudson Bay," he said. "There the Eskimos are on a white man's diet because of the lack of seals."

Dr. Birchard said the Eskimos generally were a healthy people. He had found a few traces of tuberculosis, he said, but had heard of no cancer.

DRAINAGE PLAN CONSIDERED

Saanich Council Told of Urgent Need For Shel-bourne Flood Relief

Residents of Shelbourne Street in the vicinity of Cedar Avenue and Cedar Hill Cross Road may receive relief from winter flood conditions this year if plans for improvement of Bowker Creek drainage proceed.

At a Saanich Council meeting yesterday evening a partial report on necessary work was received and tabled pending further information.

The council also heard three residents of the district, Fred Elliot, G. R. Hunter and Luther Hollings, who pointed out flood dangers during the excessive rains of last winter.

Mr. Elliot told of serious losses he had sustained and each member of the delegation felt the problem could be solved by the installation of larger culverts.

Reeve Crouch assured that everything possible would be done this year, but pointed out that action in this respect was largely dependent upon steps taken by the city and Oak Bay in connection with the general survey of Bowker Creek.

DEDICATE NEW SAANICH PARK

Eighteen Lots Set Aside For Municipal Playground Near Swan Lake

Eighteen lots in Saanich, between Irwin Drive and Darwin Street, are to be dedicated as a municipal park to the donation of five lots from the Tolmie Estate to the municipality.

At a meeting yesterday evening the council was informed the estate was prepared to offer the lots for park purposes. Thirteen adjoining municipal lots were included in the area, which, for some time past has been used as a playground.

The council also passed a resolution of appreciation to Edward Smith, a local resident, who has been instrumental in the organization of children's sports teams in the community for the last few years. Mr. Smith has been training his teams on the grounds and members of the council praised the value of the work which he was doing.

WILL INQUIRE INTO CHARGES

As a result of the appearance before the Saanich Council yesterday evening of Mrs. Ardah Campbell, a committee of the council next Tuesday, will inquire into certain allegations made by Mrs. Campbell against members of the municipal hall staff.

The committee will inquire into an interview Mrs. Campbell had with members of the staff during a recent visit to the municipal hall, and seek reasons why she was not granted an interview with R. F. Sewell, municipal clerk.

The committee will be presided over by Councillor E. C. Warren, Ward Two, as chairman, with Councillors W. R. Woods, Fred Borden and H. D. Cotton and Reeve Crouch as an ex-officio member.

COURTESY

Courtesy, Aug. 23.—An excursion to Powell River sponsored by the Junior Olympic Club to take part in the track and field meet, was a success, with 226 taking the trip. In addition to those taking part in the track meet the Courtesy Athletics went over to play baseball, the Comox Ladies' Golf Club and eight rinks from the Cumberland Bowling Club went over also.

Courtesy bowlers won by a gratifying margin. The Courtesy Ath-tics draw 4 to 4 with the home team, and the Comox Ladies Golf Club lost to their hostesses. The track stars put up a fair showing, but brought home no honors.

Nanaimo Ladies' Bowling Club players were the guests of the Cumberland Ladies' Club at the local green on Sunday in the second game for the Lady Kathleen Villiers Trophy. The Nanaimo players gained a lead of 40 points in the first two games series at Nanaimo, July 20, but found competition keener on Sunday, gaining a margin of only 9 points, the scores being 52 for Cumberland, 61 for Nanaimo. The total scores for the two games were: Cumberland 92, Nanaimo 141.

GROTE STIRLING VISITS VICTORIA

Stating his visit was purely one related to affairs of his department, Hon. Grote Stirling, Minister of National Defence in the federal government, was in Victoria a few hours yesterday afternoon.

The minister flew across from Vancouver, C. H. Dickie, M.P., and Hugh Allan, C. H. Dickie, M.P., and Hugh Allan, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, at the Empress Hotel. He returned to the mainland yesterday evening.

He spoke of the interest with which the people were awaiting the speaking tour of Premier R. B. Bennett. Mr. Stirling also referred to his nomination as Conservative candidate in Yale, and voiced an optimistic outlook for his party in British Columbia.

Before returning to the east, Mr. Stirling hopes to spend some time in his own constituency.

CONSIDER FOX FARM REMOVAL

Intimation that some steps may soon be taken to abate the nuisance of the fox farm on Quadra Street near Christmas Hill, was given at the Saanich Council meeting yesterday evening.

The council received a report from the health officer and building inspector stating the farm at present was unsanitary. Several complaints have also been filed with the council from nearby residents, who have protested the nauseating odors emanating from the farm.

The issue was tabled pending an interview between Reeve Crouch and the farm management, with a view to altering its location.

CHEMAMUS

Chemamus Women's Benefit Association No. 19 held their meeting in the picture house. It was decided to start the winter series of card parties and old time dances on September 10.

The annual apron sale will be held in November. Plans for the other social activities were discussed but were laid over till the next meeting.

The praises of the Forbidden Plateau have been sung so much that a number of young Chemamus people left on Tuesday to spend the next ten days there.

Crop owners in Saanich desirous of permission to shoot pheasants that are destroying their produce must make individual application to the corporation when they reside in areas in which discharging of firearms is prohibited, the municipal council decided yesterday evening. Authority to grant permission will rest with the chief of police.

Compensation of $5 was allowed Arthur Lock by the Saanich Council yesterday evening for the loss of a lamb which was destroyed by a marauding dog.

STATESMEN MEET BUT WAR PREPARATIONS GO ON

While preparations for war go forward in Ethiopia, statesmen of Great Britain, France and Italy are meeting to try to find a way to peace. Capt. Anthony Eden for Britain, Premier Laval for France, and Baron Pompeo Aloisi (upper right) for Italy were the principals at the recent Paris conference. Lord Robert Cecil (left, below), takes the view that the British government is in honor bound to save Ethiopia from war. In the upper left are shown patriot Ethiopian girls from the school of "released slaves" carrying flags; lower right shows pay-day in the Ethiopian army, the soldiers being paid in Maria Theresa dollars worth 2 1/2 cents, which are minted in Austria.

ON TO-NIGHT

George Low to Meet Reg Hopkins in Main Event at Mount Stephen

Three mat contests and four boxing bouts will provide plenty of action for followers of the amateur fight game at Mount Stephen Athletic Club to-night, as George Low battles Reg Hopkins in the feature on the grappling programme.

The first bout is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Low and Hopkins, weighing in at 135 pounds, are scheduled to go five five-minute rounds.

Jack Lacey and Bill Stein, listed at the same weight, are billed for a four four-minute round tussle, while Young Doc Sarpolis and Young Ernie Arthur are scheduled to wrestle four three-minute periods.

In the boxing section, George Patterson will meet Jack Patterson in the 135-pound class, while Harry Morrison and Ray Duval are matched in the even 100-pound division.

Len Clark and Red Knowles, eighty-pounders, and George Harvey and Tommy Griffith, scaling ninety-seven, will meet in the other bouts.

EAGLES WILL OPPOSE SONS

First Game of Senior Baseball League Finals at Athletic Park To-night

Eagles, undefeated leaders in Victoria Senior Baseball League schedule, will stack up against the sons of Canada in the first of the five-game series for possession of the league championship to-night at 8 o'clock at the Athletic Park. Leo Holden will call the balls and strikes.

The Eagles will march out Jimmy Proudlove, snappy slab artist, to do their heavy work, with Henry Woodford as his battery mate. "Sonny" Walker, ace pitcher for the Canadians, will be on the mound and Masas Kuwabara will do the catching.

BROWNING IN MAT VICTORY

Former Heavyweight Champion Defeats Pat O'Shocker at Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 23. — Jim Browning, 241-pound Missourian, defeated Pat O'Shocker, 250, New York, in the main event on yesterday evening's wrestling card, taking the odd fall of the three-fall match in the sixth round with a scissors hold.

Harry Kent, Portland, defeated Angelo Cistoldi, Boston, with two of three falls in the semi-final. Kent weighed 232, Cistoldi, 230.

In a special event Harry Cemetral, 190, Chicago, and Jim Healy, 209, San Jose, Cal., went five rounds to a draw. Each took a fall.

Athletics Score
One-sided Win

Vancouver, Aug. 23.—Led by Short-stop Lodigiani, who cracked out a home run, triple and single to score five of his team's runs, the Athletics swamped Arnold and Quigley under a barrage of seventeen hits and ran up a 16 to 3 victory in a senior city baseball game here yesterday evening. The decision pulled the A's to within a game of the league-leading Home Gas and dropped the Clothiers to a half game above the cellar Uniteds.

The A's hitters got to Larry Holden, starting hurler of the Clothiers, for five hits and five runs in the fourth before Hal Lee was sent in. Lee yielded five runs in the seventh and six more in the ninth, most of them on errors and loose playing by his discouraged teammates.

HIGH SCORING IN MATCHES

Ashdown, Sinfield and Paynter Put on Big Totals in English Cricket

London, Aug. 23.—Defeating Worcestershire yesterday by an innings and sixty runs, Yorkshire practically won the English County Cricket League championship. Only the complete collapse of the White Rose County in its three remaining games and the annexing of full points by Derbyshire, its nearest rival, can affect the standing.

Prospects at the end of yesterday's play were that Kent would win first innings points from Derbyshire in a high-scoring match at Dover and in this event Yorkshire would be in an invulnerable position.

In the match at Worcester, the Yorkshiremen compiled 358, Herbert Sutcliffe being top scorer with 138. The sauce county replied with 154 and 144. In the Worcestershire second innings Hedley Verity captured five wickets for forty-eight runs.

VETERAN STARS

William Ashdown, veteran Kent professional, scored 305 not out in the match with Derbyshire, the highest score of the year to date. Last year, playing against Essex at Brentwood, he made 332, which stood as the top score of the year.

Heavy scoring featured other games. Reginald Sinfield hitting up 208 not out for Gloucestershire and Edward Paynter 208 not out for Lancashire.

Close of play scores follow:
Sussex 489 (John Langridge 111, Melville 110, Harry Parks 100 not out); Surrey 315 for nine wickets; at Eastbourne.

Warwickshire 113 and 290 for three wickets (Isher 124); Nottinghamshire 324 (Staples 107 not out); at Nottingham.

Kent 560 (Ashdown 305 not out); Derbyshire 358 for eight; at Dover.

Hampshire 223 and 299 for five wickets (Arnold 131); Essex 247; at Bourne.

Lancashire 521 for five, declared (Paynter 208 not out); Northamptonshire 178; at Northampton.

Gloucestershire 440 for nine, declared (Sinfield 208 not out); Glamorgan 213 for five wickets; at Cardiff.

Sir Julian Cahn's Eleven 235; South Africans 91 for no wickets; at Nottingham.

REPRESENTING
UNION LEAGUE

B. B. Campbell, Founder of Non-partizan Political Group, Is in City

Founder and chairman of the temporary national committee of the League for National Government, Basil B. Campbell, Toronto, is in Victoria, registered at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Campbell is accompanied by C. Chisholme, representing the membership committee of the league, and is seeking to spread the doctrine of his organization in this city.

Mr. Campbell states that he believes there are enough people in Canada dissatisfied with the party government system to break its stranglehold, and give the country what he terms "a chance to get on her feet."

NOT IN FEDERAL FIELD

Mr. Campbell strongly denied that the League for National Government had any intentions of placing candidates in the federal field, stating that the new organization was most emphatically not another party.

Its aims he outlined as follows: To obtain a government of national composition, freed from the antagonisms of the political machines, ready to adopt a spirit of co-operation, putting party prejudice aside. Its members would work together wisely and constructively towards a disinterested public service.

NON-PARTIZAN

The league, he said, was not a party; necessarily made it political, but it was not partisan. Its aims were definitely patriotic and democratic. It sought a continuance of the present democratic system and present institutions, but rather in the original form in which they were planned in the constitution.

With reference to business conditions in the east, Mr. Campbell, who is president of a firm of construction engineers, said that there were definite signs of a basic improvement. However, he said that in his opinion there would never be any real progress made until Canadians forgot their "isms" and got down to the bedrock of political common sense.

Mr. Campbell will address the Gyro Club at their luncheon on Monday.

HOME RUNS YESTERDAY

The latest shift in the Big Six order brought Hank Greenberg, the Tigers' home-run king, back into the sextette yesterday, while Roger Cramer, of the Athletics, dropped out. Greenberg's two hits, one his thirty-third homer, in five times at bat, lifted his average a point and put him into a tie with Buddy Myer for the second American League position. Cramer failed to hit and dropped back two points. Myer also hit two out of five, but his mark was unchanged. Joe Vossik hit once in three tries to maintain his .349 mark, while Gabby Hartnett, the other active member, dropped back three points with one blow in five times up.

Committee Announces Recipients of C.D.A. Diplomas For Outstanding Work

Twenty-five men and women whose efforts on behalf of worthwhile drama in Canada are considered to be outstanding were granted diplomas here yesterday evening by a committee which had before it eighty-four names recommended by reliable authorities throughout the Dominion.

During the last year detailed information has been collected, segregated and analyzed, being finally laid before the special committee set up for the purpose of dealing with the annual awards, instituted last year by the British Columbia Drama Festival Association Inc.

This committee, consisting of Hon. Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips as chairman, General Sir Charles Delme-Radcliffe, Comte Jean de Suzannet, Herbert E. Pott, Harold G. Hinton, H. Roy Goldfinch, Mrs. Ethel Reese Burns, Edward T. Simmons, D. J. MacDonald, Donald McCain and Major L. Bullock-Webster, organizing secretary of the association, all of this province, selected the following as recipients of the award:

Lord Beesborough, Miss Martha Allan, Montreal; Miss Margaret Anglin, Ottawa; J. A. Aylen, Ottawa; Mrs. Theodore Barker, Fredericton, N.B.; C. S. Blanchard, E.C., Medicine Hat; Professor R. E. D. Cattle, University of New Brunswick; Miss Mona Coxwell, Toronto; W. B. Crawley, Saskatoon; Caroline Crerar, Hamilton, Ont.; Joseph Dussault, Quebec City; William Edwards, Calgary; Onet Godbout, Quebec City; H. A. V. Green, Winnipeg; D. Park Jamieson, Sarnia; Hon. Vincent Massey, Toronto; H. O. Mills, Halifax; Roy Mitchell, formerly of Hart House, Toronto; Mrs. E. R. Myers, Saskatoon; Colonel H. C. Osborne, Ottawa; Mrs. Arthur Roper, Charlottetown, P.E.I.; Harold Nelson Shaw, formerly of Vancouver, now residing in Hollywood, Cal.; E. G. Stern-Bennett, Toronto; Lady Tupper, Winnipeg; and Mrs. C. P. Walker, Manitoba.

The first award was inscribed in memory of Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, 1894-1911, who sponsored the first Canadian Drama Festival.

The award will entitle recipients to use the letters "C. D. A." after their names in matters pertaining to drama. In connection with the awards for 1935, announced above, Major Bullock-Webster states that the whole of the expenses for the first year have been donated by Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, while office accommodation has been placed at the disposal of the committee by Harold G. Hinton.

First "Aberhart" Baby's Born

Canadian Press
C-gary, Aug. 23.—William Aberhart Holman is the name to be given a baby born to Mrs. Mack Holman of Calgary as she was being rushed to hospital in an automobile last night.

The nine-pound boy was born just about the time William Aberhart was realizing his Alberta Social Credit League had been chosen by electors to form the next provincial government.

The child arrived about twelve miles from Calgary and the mother and baby spent the night at a nearby farm. They will be taken to hospital to-day. Both were reported doing well. The father is a welder.

SUCCEEDS FAMED JANE ADDAMS

Said to have been the late Jane Addams' own choice for the post, Adena Miller Rich, above, wife of a Chicago stockbroker, has been appointed head resident of the famous Chicago welfare unit, Hull House, of which she has been a resident twenty years. An Oberlin graduate, Mrs. Rich is also director of Chicago's Women's Club and Immigrant's Protective League.

GISH SISTERS RETURN FROM BALKANS

Relating experiences as melodramatic as the theatrical fictions in which they have starred, Dorothy Gish (left) and her sister, Lillian, have returned to Broadway after a trip through the Balkans. They were detained in Yugoslavia when they decorated their dog with a ribbon that proved to be the country's national colors.

MRS. GEO. BLACK STATES STAND

Although Running as Independent Has Conservative Association's Endorsement

Canadian Press
Dawson, Y.T., Aug. 23.—Mrs. George Black, wife of the former speaker of the House of Commons, made it clear to-night that while she is running in the Yukon as an Independent Conservative, she has the full endorsement of the official Conservative organization. This was confirmed by officials of the association.

Mrs. Black said she was terming herself an Independent Conservative for any measure which, in her opinion, was in the best interests of the Yukon, regardless of party attitude. Hon. George Black, retiring member for the Yukon, is building up his health from his recent illness by a return to the Yukon outdoors, which he knew so well at the beginning of the century. He is spending his time fishing and hunting.

News of Clubwomen

WEDDINGS

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, at the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street, a pretty wedding took place, when Rev. P. W. McKinnon united in marriage Rosina Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, of 2719 Fernwood Road, and Mr. John Nelson Tubman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tubman, of Keating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of blue tulle, yellow organdie and a picture hat to match and carried a sheaf of yellow gladioli and white carnations.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Patricia Murphy, who wore a frock of mauve organdie, with a white hat, and carried a sheaf of yellow gladioli and mauve sweet peas. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr. Maurice Tubman.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Herbert Dawe rendered as a solo "All Joy Be Thine," accompanied by Miss K. Wilkerson who also played the wedding marches.

For the occasion the Sons of England Hall had been decorated with a profusion of summer flowers with mauve and yellow flowers predominating. The reception which followed the marriage service was attended by a large number of guests who offered their felicitations to the happy couple.

Assisting in receiving the guests were the bride's mother, Mrs. Murphy, wearing a black and white gown with hat to match and with Mrs. H. Young, sister of the groom.

Later the young couple left by motor for a trip up the island and on their return to Victoria will make their home in Keating.

Among the wedding presents were gifts from the Oak Bay Chapter of the Eastern Star, of which the bride is a member, and from the provision department of Spencer's Ltd., where the bride has been employed for several years.

Triumph of Blind Girl Composer

Sings Group of Own Songs in Special London Broadcast; Brilliant Weddings

London (By Mail)—A woman who has been blind all her life—and yet is a noted singer and composer—has had a recital of her music specially broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

She is Miss May Walker, who lives near London. Her courage brought tears to many eyes during the recital. One saw her looking with unseeing eyes towards Mr. Henry Isaac, the pianist, as he played two of her works, "Prelude in E Minor" and "Caprice."

She could not see the beautiful studio, the microphone sending her music to listening thousands and the play of the musicians' hands as he interpreted her score.

Then an announcer helped her to her feet and guided her to the microphone.

She sang a group of her own songs—one of which was called "The Eyes."

Miss Walker was educated at the Royal Normal College for the Blind. She showed outstanding musical gifts and was sent to the Royal Academy of Music. There she studied piano, singing and composition.

She has composed several important works including a violin sonata, a set of variations on a Normandy Folk Song and numerous songs, most of which are settings for modern poetry.

Soon she hopes to compose a work for the full orchestra.

WEDDING WEEK
London has been enjoying a season of fashionable weddings.

At one the bride walked on gold—another the bride, heiress to £1,600,000, arrived ten minutes too early.

The gold bride was the Hon. Elizabeth Scott-Ellis, daughter of Lord Howard de Walden, one of Britain's richest men. She was married to Count Orloff-Davidoff, member of an ancient Russian family, at the Russian Church, Buckingham Palace Road.

Before she left her home for the church, her page slipped gold pieces into her satin slippers so that she might walk down the aisle on gold—an old Russian custom.

Children from the stum areas of Westminster, for whom the bride helps to provide summer holidays, were privileged guests at the wedding.

TOO-EARLY BRIDE
Miss Priscilla Weigall, twenty-one-year-old heiress to £1,500,000, left to her mother by Sir John Blundell Maple, the furniture magnate, was the too-early bride.

She arrived at St. Paul's Cathedral ten minutes too soon for her wedding in the little Chapel of St. Michael and St. George to Viscount Curzon, son of Earl Howe, the racing motorist.

An usher brought her a chair and she sat in the Cathedral porch, in full view of hundreds of women and girls who had gathered to admire her gown.

Her dress was blue, silver and white. Her veil, of blue and white tulle, was held in place by a priceless tiara of glittering diamonds and aquamarines.

She carried a white and silver prayer book instead of a bouquet.

Her ten bridesmaids wore simple frocks of blue and silver and they carried bouquets of white lilies and blue delphiniums.

Among her 1,000 wedding guests were Princess Alice and the Earl of Athlone, ex-King George of Greece and Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught.

She was the first bride to be married in the Chapel of St. Michael and St. George since it was dedicated by King Edward VII in 1905. It was chosen because her father is a Knight

Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

ROYAL PARTY FASHIONS

Some 5,000 women—all in their best dresses—were among the guests at the garden party given by the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace.

Brilliant sunshine—real jubilee weather—enabled hats and gowns to be seen in all their glory.

Elaborate organdies, chiffons, jacks, silks... all the most beautiful summer materials in the world had been fashioned into clinging, feminine, ankle-length gowns so that Britain's women could go to meet their King and Queen.

As usual, the queen looked the coolest and most beautifully dressed person present.

QUEEN'S LACE GOWN

She wore a cream lace gown over a foundation of rose-petal pink and a silver toque with a pink osprey plume.

She carried a pale pink parasol and her jewels were pearl earrings and a diamond necklace.

The Duchess of York wore a white dress of soft chiffon while her youngest daughter, Princess Margaret Rose, wore a stiff little frock of peony-pink muslin and a straw hat trimmed with rosebuds.

The fashions, were far more feminine this year.

Hats, too, were more becoming. The Duchess of Kent's love for large hats has led to a revival of shady straws with huge floppy brims which go so well with the garden party dresses.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

FIFTEEN MONTHS OLD CHILD SHOULD NOT BE TREATED AS UTTER INFANT

People tend to use the term "baby" in a very loose fashion. Mothers call their children babies, in sentimental evidences of their affection, well beyond the age when such a term has any real meaning.

Mrs. O. D. P. has voiced that perplexity in her query: "When is a baby not a baby? I have asked myself that question many times. In a word, for how long should the rules for caring for infants be applied?"

"My baby is fifteen months old. Should I still bathe her eyes daily with boric acid solution, clean her nostrils with oil and oil the creases of her body?"

TIME TO RABBLE

"Should her orange juice be strained and diluted? Should she wear a band and shirt, when the weather is not too warm, and wear a shirt under her nightgown? She cannot walk or talk and I sometimes wonder if I am keeping her an infant for too long. She naps well but does not always sleep well."

It is probable when a child does not develop as quickly as one expects, that the tendency is to keep it in the infant period longer than necessary. I should criticize any programme feeding and any misusing of opportunities for healthful activity which are resulting in this late development. The baby should creep and stand up to objects, even if she doesn't walk, and should be babbling and naming some few objects at this age.

ORDINARY BATH

The advice you referred to need not be carried beyond the first birthday. At that time, sometimes before, the child can bathe in an ordinary tub and have the face washed in the ordinary way. Oil would be used only if the nose could not be cleaned thoroughly with facial tissues or if the creases of the body showed irritation. You encourage the child's development by making those changes in care which are typical of a later period.

The orange juice does not need dilution, in fact a section of skinned orange could be eaten in the hand.

LESS CLOTHES!

The idea of a shirt and band is abhorrent in summer. Only a diaper in daytime, or a one-piece cotton garment, and at night the thinnest of nightgowns or just the diaper.

It is apparent that because of the child's somewhat slow development you are continuing habits suitable to infants too long. Would you like the leaflets, "Development of Sitting," "Standing," "Walking," and "Normal Speech Development," which may be had by sending a self-addressed and stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper. When one is aware of what children of this age can do, the mother is more inclined to expect them to come up to such standards.

Dogs Now Sport Painted Toe-nails

Canadian Press

Goderich, Ont., Aug. 23.—Woman's latest fad apparently has "gone to the dogs."

But the dogs themselves can't even whimper about it. Two dogs to-day were sporting painted toe nails. A French poodle was gay with vivid green nails. A terrier pup was attracting attention with nails of a brilliant scarlet hue.

COMMUNIST CAMP RAIDED

Negroes on Instruction Staff at Children's Camp in California

Associated Press

Riverside, Cal., Aug. 23.—With a surprise visit Riverside County authorities opened an investigation yesterday into the operation of an asserted Communist camp for children near Prado.

Designated an "anti-war camp," Sheriff Carl F. Rayburn said, it has drawn sixty-five boys and girls between the ages of twelve and twenty from southern California counties in its four weeks' operation.

Accompanied by County Health Officer W. A. Jones, Sheriff Rayburn said he found the children of white, negro and other races living together in an open camp without buildings or tents. Beds of adult camp help and the children were located within a few feet of one another, he added.

The sheriff said a woman in charge of the camp stated it was fostered by the "International Insurance Company." He said four adult negroes are on the instruction staff.

LONDON TO HAVE CIVIC MIDWIVES

Estimated Cost For Staff of 140 Would Be $150,000 Year

Canadian Press

London, Aug. 23.—The scheme for a service of salaried midwives outlined by the Joint Council of Midwifery has been approved unanimously by the London County Council.

A condition of the scheme is that there should be a satisfactory grant from national funds. The cost of the L.C.C. for about 140 midwives would be from $150,000 to $200,000 a year, according to the extent of the service. During the debate at County Hall, Miss Esther Rickards declared that a salaried service was long overdue in the interests of mothers. She made an impassioned appeal to the council to pass the committee's recommendations.

Air Stewardess

Vida Hurst

Her heart was beating thickly as she approached the desk. The old familiar smells and sounds had greeted her like forgotten friends. This had, after all, been her entire world for three years.

She stopped in the children's ward and came away without the gardenias which she had placed in the apathetic hand of the youngster suffering from anemia. And then she must run into 210 to see if the carcinoma case had died yet. The poor soul had been there almost a year.

The floor nurse spoke to her eagerly. "Hello, Irene! How does it feel to be a lady of leisure?"

"Leisure nothing!" Irene smiled. "You'd be surprised how I have to work."

"You look like Mrs. Astorbilt," the other retorted.

Well, that was fine! That was just what she needed before facing those upper floors where at any moment she might meet a dark eyed young interne.

"Where's Pete?" she demanded. "Women's surgical—418."

Riding up in the elevator, Irene expected to see Bart at any moment. An interne did get on at the third floor but it was only Charlie Robinson.

"Pasty-faced, laxy Charlie!" "Hello, Irene," he said. "How does it feel to sail around in the clouds?"

Why did everyone ask the same silly question? As if what she was doing were nothing but child's play.

"Pasty-faced, laxy Charlie!" "Hello, Irene," he said. "How does it feel to sail around in the clouds?"

There he was at the far end of the corridor disappearing into the chart-room. If he had turned his head, he would have seen her. But he hadn't.

A surge of longing like a physical spasm swept her whole body leaving her weak.

She hadn't dreamed it would hurt like this. Merely the glimpse of him, calmly indifferent, going about his business. She should have stayed away. Should have known better than to run the risk of meeting him.

White-faced and shaking, she knocked at 418 to tell Pete where she would be; then, afraid to wait for the elevator she hurried down the stairs, out of the door, and to Pete's apartment block away.

When Pete arrived, Irene was sitting in a chair staring out the window. "What's the trouble with you and Bartlett?" questioned the nurse, flinging herself upon the day-bed.

"No trouble," Irene denied. "You said it yourself it would be a mistake for us to marry."

"So what? You aren't trying to imply that you are following my advice?" "Not exactly but I decided that everything considered, it would be better for me to go to work. I've always had a secret year to fly."

"Have you indeed?" Pete inquired dryly. "I suppose you haven't heard that Bart is going into Dr. Reagan's office?" Irene flipped the ashes from a cigarette.

IT PAYS TO HAVE "MODEL" CHILDREN

Son and Two Daughters of Long Island Woman Win Fame by Their Acting and Picture Posing

Nancy Kelly, twelve, said to be the most photographed child in America, is shown with Sister Carol and (in inset) Brother Jackie. All three have won their spurs as models.

Even the most optimistic mother could scarcely hope to have more than one model child but Mrs. Jack Kelly of Astoria, Ill., has had three.

And as if to make it harder for other mothers to live up to this standard, Mrs. Kelly maintains that all her three have been models practically from birth. As indeed they have—and paid for it, too! Modelling, in short, is their profession.

The eldest Kelly, Nancy, aged twelve, is said to have been photographed oftener than any child in America. This energetic young person has crowded into her brief life a multitude of major events which have included posing for James Montgomery Flagg, playing in fifty-two motion pictures and taking the juvenile lead in a number of Broadway productions.

Nancy began her busy career by winning a prize as a perfect baby. It was fun to plan to spend a large part of the first check she would receive as an air hostess for the pretty things she had been unable to afford while still in training.

Mr. Turner was waiting for her. Since their parting earlier in the day his manner seemed to have become more intimate.

"I'm so glad to see you," he said. "I was afraid you might have another engagement."

She said then, curiously, "You look different. As if you were a little boy who had just been let out of school."

"That's the way I feel. It's Saturday night and I've a date with the wouldn't feel gay?"

She recognized this as merely a pretty speech, but was conscious of a stimulating sense of adventure as he helped her in his car.

"Have you ever been to Molinari's?" he asked.

"No, but I've heard about it. I'd love to go there."

"You shall," he promised. "Later. But first we're going for a ride."

It was all very exciting and exhilarating Irene thought, as they drove along the beach with the salt air fresh in their faces and in their ears the weird inhuman bellowing of fog horns.

CHAPTER VI

Clarence Turner proved to be an interesting companion. Without attempting any of the pilot's heavy-handed tactics he made Irene feel that he was conscious of every move she made. Sensitive to her slightest reaction.

Without paying obvious compliments, he managed to give her the impression that she was everything he admired in a woman. And being exceedingly feminine as well as deeply hurt over someone else, she found this comforting.

CASH PRIZE FOR VICTORIA YOUTH

Cyril Pecknold Receives $80 Award in Fisher Guild Contest

Quebec, Aug. 23.—Cyril Pecknold, 741 Lamson Avenue, Victoria, was among award winners announced last night by the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild, in international convention at Chateau Frontenac, by R. H. McLaughlin, president of the Canadian section of the guild.

Young Pecknold received cash award of $80 for the best model Napoleonic coach submitted by western Canada junior contestants.

The coveted university scholarships, valued at $5,000 each, went to Robert Rasmussen, Regina, best junior coach in Canada, and Mervin Reilly, Medicine Hat. The best senior four scholarships went to United States boys.

Six Canadian and eighteen United States regional winners received cash awards, all being present for the three-day convention in Quebec. At a dinner yesterday evening, elaborately staged in a replica of the Guild Square of Medieval Brussels, the boys were surrounded by men prominent in Canadian public and business life, as well as officials of General Motors Corporation, which sponsors the Guild Foundation.

The voice news commentator, Edwin C. Hill, carried a part of the proceedings to listeners on the continent wide network, and Mr. Hill also acted as master of ceremonies.

TENNIS RAINED OUT

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 23 (Associated Press).—A heavy shower, which flooded the Longwood tennis courts, washed out yesterday's national doubles programme. Tournament officials were forced to postpone the finals in all five competitions until Monday.

SOFTBALL POSTPONED

Scheduled for Bullen Park this evening, the Calvert Cup semi-final between Poodle Dog Cafe and Kregas has been postponed until Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, softball officials announced yesterday.

FINE VIEW OF NEW ADDITION TO GOLDSTREAM PARK

Extensive work has been carried out this year at Goldstream Park and visitors have been delighted with the attractiveness of the place. The stately cedars have been brought into view and a stroll among the trees is a delight. The city constructed the Cedar Grove tea rooms, shown in the above picture, with one of the big cedars at the extreme right.

Denies Lobby Party Charge

Senator Tydings Indignant Over Implied Complicity in Cocktail Party

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, D.C., Aug. 23.—Bristling indignantly, Senator Tydings denied to Senate lobby investigators to-day he had ever accepted the lobbyist-hospitality of Bernard B. Robinson.

"Hereafter when you use my name, be damned sure you are right," he stormed at the nervous Associated Gas and Electric saboteur of utility legislation, who yesterday had testified the Marylander was his guest at a cocktail party.

It seems he may have attended the party and may not have. If he did, he insisted, it was at the invitation of Miss Evelyn Walker, named by Robinson as having shared with him in giving the party.

The tense, brief scene contrasted with testimony both before and after by Howard C. Hopson on securities dealings by his Associated and Gas interests. He denied improper price manipulation was involved.

Chairman Black asked caustically at one point "You defend the practice, when stocks and bonds are to be purchased, of attempting to bring the price lower than the market price, if the market were left alone?"

"Why, of course," Hopson replied.

The committee dismissed Hopson subject to call.

FRANCE VIEWS BRITISH STAND

Fear Britain's Threat May Stiffen Mussolini's Attitude

By ROBERT S. PARKER
Associated Press Staff Writer
Paris, Aug. 23.—Fear was expressed in French official circles to-day that Great Britain's threat of sanctions might stiffen Mussolini's stand. But the British cabinet's failure to lift the embargo on arms was taken as a favorable gesture to Italy.

The British cabinet's determination

Reporters Need Not Reveal News Source

Canadian Press
Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 23.—Governor Bibb Graves yesterday signed the Calhoun Bill granting immunity to newspaper reporters from revealing confidential news sources before grand juries or other investigating bodies, and the measure became law.

to exhaust all diplomatic possibilities in search of a solution for peace was welcomed as strengthening the French Premier's conciliating hand. Britain's warning she will ask strict application of the League's Covenant if diplomacy fails, is regarded by the French as a possible club to make it Duce stop to consider that he runs a risk of far more than simple colonial warfare if he shoots his way into Ethiopia.

Paris is hopeful that Mussolini, convinced of Britain's firm intent to uphold the League, will make a slow and peaceful penetration of Ethiopia instead of waging war.

NET CLOSING ON SUSPECT

Early Apprehension of Labatt Kidnapping Figure Expected By Police

Canadian Press
London, Ont., Aug. 23.—Police investigators in the John Labatt kidnapping case, were closing on Russell Knowles, suspected as a member of the gang that abducted the wealthy London brewer a year ago, it was reported authoritatively here to-day.

Knowles, known to police, was picked up in Detroit at the time of the kidnapping and was held for questioning. He was not identified by Labatt at the time and was released. Suspicion has again fallen upon him and police are said to have picked up his trail.

Yesterday, Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton announced there would be no further delay in the sentencing of Michael McCordell, self-confessed member of the kidnapping gang. He will appear in court here Monday as will Jack Bannan, Windsor, held as a suspect, and Gerald Nicholson, formerly of Muskoka, charged with being an accessory after the fact.

CASH AID FOR OLD SOLDIERS

Small Pensioners to Receive Money Relief Instead of Chits Formerly Used

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Pursuant to one of the recommendations of Justice J. D. Byrnam's commission, which enquired into unemployment conditions among ex-servicemen in Canada, the department of pensions on September 1 will issue cash relief, instead of vouchers, to unemployed small pensioners. This is announced by Minister of Pensions Sutherland.

Hitherto the practice of issuing unemployment relief to the small pensioner, followed that of the municipality in which the recipient resided. Since most of the municipalities issued chits for food and the like, departmental district administrators did the same.

The system will be altered beginning September 1. A basic rate has been struck and this will be issued to pensioners. What this rate is has not been disclosed. However, it works out that if the municipal rate is lower than the basic rate, the pensioner will receive the basic rate. If the municipal rate is higher the pensioner will receive the basic rate plus the difference in order to bring him up to the municipal rate.

Strong Mainland Challenge For B.C. Track Titles Wednesday

THE SPORTS MIRROR

ONE OF Canadian football's more interesting experiments is the projected tour of B.C. Imperials, Canadian champions, who must have a fair idea that a playing journey through the west isn't the soft touch it once was. It is an established fact that teams in Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver, for instance, are a tougher lot than they were a few years ago. They are tougher, just by the way of comparison, than in 1930 when Hamilton Tigers waded through that country in the pre-season and discovered they had with them a player named Dave Sprague.

The Imperials are likely to make another type of discovery altogether on this early-season hunt. Chances are they will return for the O.R.F.U. campaign with thanks that Summer Stirling is the best punter in the country. Punting is virtually an unknown art in a couple of games pretty much by himself.

Winglines, particularly in Winnipeg and Regina, will measure up to the light B.C. wall. There will be running backfields at least nearly as fleet as old Norman Perry, and the forward passing will be every bit as good as the Imperials will exhibit. So there should be some good struggles. It is a fact, too, that western observers have long felt their teams would make an improved showing if they were permitted to mingle with the eastern rivals in September rather than December. Western teams reach their peak about early-November and the contention is they never are at their best in Dominion finals.

As far as the west is concerned, this season visit will settle for the moment the relative merits of sectional football standards. From an eastern point of view, the only objection is that Imperials have to do five times as much work as any western team. There are on a five-game tour.

Outstanding Stars To Compete In Big Federation Sports

Limon, McPhee, Dixon, Barrett, McComber and Harrison Included in Vancouver Team

KEEN DUELS ARE ASSURED

Spiked shoes that have dug into the cinders of tracks in Britain and Australia as well as the leading centres in Canada, will pound the turf at Macdonald Park next Wednesday afternoon as the cream of British Columbia track and field performers strive for provincial honors in the Civic Employees' Federation sports.

While no definite entries have been received from mainland points to date, Dave Shirley, acting track leader of the terminal city, in a personal letter to Archie McKinnon, Flying Y coach, to-day indicated the majority of top-notchers, including a British Empire Games performer and two Australian schoolboy tour stars, would be over for the meet. The entry of Allan Poole, Kelowna, regarded as one of the fastest sprinters in the Dominion, is doubtful. Poole is scheduled to write school examinations on the date of the big event here and may not be able to make the trip.

McPhee, who starred in the antipodean, recently scored an upset victory over Stan Barrett, who had beaten Vince Forbes, sprint champion in a recent Vancouver meet. If they face the gun next Wednesday, local performers will have to show more than they have produced this year to get a place in the century and furlong. The quarter mile, in which Joe Addison, who ranks slightly ahead of the rest of the field in the Canadian ratings, should be a keen duel. Early in the season Mush Limon took his measure in a meet in Kelowna. Joe came back to beat his rival at Powell River and the forthcoming race will be in the nature of a rubber event. Judging from Addison's condition, he should take the race, but will probably be extended to the limit to meet the stiff competition.

Locals HALF-MILE FAVORITES Victoria track followers look to local boys to take the half and the mile. If Limon enters the eight-eighty, Addison will probably be shot into the event to carry the load. However, Coach McKinnon expects Bill Dale and Chuck Cunningham, who are specializing at that distance, to be strong enough to weather any outside challenge. Hal Moore, one of Vancouver's good middle distance men, (Turn to Page 14, Col. 2) originally revamped to meet the loss of the Wainers. Vaughan working in the outfield was significant, nevertheless. The California clouter may make the jump next spring. The shift of Vaughan to the outfield during the time that the Wainers were on the sidelines could not have been made without Traynor putting on the harness himself. There was no extra outfielder at the moment. But Traynor showed no inclination to get back in harness due to illness and one thing or another. Earlier in the campaign, Traynor met those picking flaws in Vaughan's short-stopping by saying that he would not consider shifting Arky except during spring training.

SOCCER FINAL THIS EVENING

Nanaimo and Montreal Confident of Lifting Canadian Championship

Winnipeg, Aug. 23.—Confidence reigned in the respective camps of Montreal Aldred and Nanaimo to-day as the teams awaited the whistle sending them into the third and final game for possession of the Dominion Football Association Challenge Cup here to-night.

Richmond Beats New Westminster

New Westminster, Aug. 23.—Richmond downed the New Westminster Salmonbellies 20 to 14, in an inter-city box lacrosse fixture at the Queen's Park arena here yesterday evening.

Buffalo, N.Y. — Tommy Loughran, 183½, Philadelphia, and Al Delaney, 185, Buffalo, drew (6).

Victoria Club Easy Victors Over North Vancouver in Final Game

A strong batting attack, which netted the Victoria Club 222 runs for six wickets, featured that eleven's closing fixture in its inaugural cricket week at Macdonald Park yesterday as the local side handily defeated North Vancouver. The mainlanders were dismissed for 161 runs.

Wrestler Fined For His Rough Tactics

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 23.—Bey Sulayman, the "praying Turk," pleaded guilty and was fined $50 in district court here yesterday as the aftermath of a wrestling match last night when "Jiddy" Girouard, a referee, and Tony Coleman, West Springfield, Sulayman's ring opponent, were knocked out. Two complaints charging assault were issued by police who were obliged to rescue Sulayman from a mob of nearly 4,000.

Victoria Thoroughbred Replaces Biff as First Choice For $10,000 Longacres Mile To-morrow Following Brilliant Workout; Chictoney Will Start

Seattle, Aug. 23.—Almost on the eve of the richest mile race on the American turf and the greatest event ever booked for a race track of the Pacific Northwest, Acey Smith's Goldstream from Victoria, B.C., yesterday established himself the virtual favorite for to-morrow's $10,000 Longacres Mile, when he blazed away over the Longacres track between races and completed seven furlongs in faster time than most good horses show in competition.

The starting son of Simony and Bee's Wing, bred and foaled in the British Columbia hunting country, reeled off the seven-eighths in 1:24 3-5, being caught in that sensational time by R. F. Brown, official Longacres timer.

Brought on the track early yesterday morning, Biff refused to extend himself once he had settled into motion and it was all that Jockey Melvin Knight could do to keep Biff at his work, going a quarter in 23 2-5, when he began to lag at the half mile in 49 2-5 and still refusing at the six furlongs in 1:15 4-5.

Hillcrest Wins Opening Game In Island Softball Series

Duncan Squad In Two-run Victory Over Brunson's

Mid-island League Champions Turn Back Victoria Titleholders 9 to 7

Second Game At Duncan Sunday

Hillcrest Lumber Company softballers from Duncan came to town yesterday evening and left again with the first game of the island championship series marked up to their credit. The Mid-island League champions turned on the heat against Brunson's Boys, Victoria titleholders, at the Athletic Park to register a 9 to 7 decision.

Before the largest crowd of the season the visiting squad turned in a smart exhibition to finally push over the winning run in the sixth inning. The second game will be played at Duncan on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and a victory for Hillcrest will give them the island title and the right to meet the mainland winners in the British Columbia championship series. Should Brunson's win a third and deciding clash will be run off here on August 27.

MY BALL HARD

In the nine innings the Duncan bats collected eleven hits off Red Palmer, leading hurler for Brunson's, including a home run in the third inning by Pitt, visiting left fielder. Brunson's got ten safeties off the combined offerings of Evans and Lovell. The former started the game, but was chased to the showers in the fifth.

Each club was charged with four errors and had eight men apiece left on the bases during the nine innings. Hillcrest opened the scoring in the first inning when they sent one runner around the circuit. They got another lone counter in the third, while Brunson's broke into the score column for the first time with a single run in the third. Hillcrest got two more in the fourth only to have the Victoria champions get three, to deadlock the score at 4 to 4.

Runs continued to be marked up with Hillcrest getting another single in the fifth. Brunson's took the lead for the first time when they posted three runs on the board in their half of the fifth.

Sixth inning saw the visitors bunch their hits for three runs and take the lead, which they held for the remainder of the game. A single run for the visitors in the ninth completed the scoring. The last of the eighth was featured by Collier's brilliant catch of Youson's drive.

TRAIL AFTER HOOP CROWN

Will Be Threat to Blue Ribbons With Former Varsity Stars on Club

Vancouver, Aug. 23.—A small but vigorous sport-minded community in the interior looms large on the British Columbia basketball horizon as coaches throughout the province start preparing for the opening of the 1935-36 season, less than two months off.

The city of Trail in the West Kootenay, which first gained prominence through the huge smelter erected there and later swept onto the athletic firmament on the blades of the track hockey sextette, has gone hoop-mad.

With the same spirit that gave them seven consecutive British Columbia senior amateur hockey titles Trail athletic leaders have started a bid for provincial hoop honors, and Coast mentors, after one glance at Trail's imposing pre-season line-up, are ready to admit it will be the greatest threat in years to the Coast's domination of the men's senior division.

GET BARDSELY
 Already boasting two members of former Canadian championship teams, Trail has added three members of last year's University of British Columbia squad which lost a slim and tuck series to Victoria Blue Ribbons, who went on to the Dominion title.

Laurie Nicholson, member of Varsity's 1931 championship squad, and Ed Armstrong, with Vancouver Province when they captured the title in 1933, will be joined next month by Jimmy Bardseley, Ralph Henderson and Art Willoughby, Varsity mainstays.

Bardseley, leading scorer for the collegians in the 1934 Inter-City League race, has graduated and is all set for a permanent stay in the smelter city. Henderson and Willoughby have decided to leave their alma-mater for a year.

ENGLISH DENTIST SWIMS CHANNEL

Dover, Eng., Aug. 23.—On his first attempt, Hayden Taylor, a dentist of Cleethorpes, yesterday swam the English Channel from France to England in fourteen hours twenty-eight minutes.

Taylor entered the water at Cap Gris Nez at 1:35 a.m. and landed at the beach near the old Shakespeare Colliery here at 4:03 yesterday afternoon. It was the first successful channel swim of the season.

MANY PRIZES FOR DOG SHOW

Long List of Premiums Offer Additional Inducements to Fanciers

A lengthy premium list will offer additional inducements to fanciers to enter their dogs in the Victoria City Kennel Club's bench show at the Willows on September 11, it was announced by officials in charge of the event to-day.

The show will be held in conjunction with the annual provincial exhibition at the fair grounds. The premium list contains no less than twenty-five special prizes in addition to the specials offered for best of breed in all cases. Where five or more are entered in any breed an extra award will be given to the best of the opposite sex. This is probably the most liberal list of prizes ever offered by the club. It has been made possible by the generosity of the merchants of the city and municipalities, the members of the club, and the many lovers of dogs.

One thousand premium lists and entry forms and classification have been mailed out to prospective exhibitors throughout Canada, Washington, Oregon and California, and it is confidently expected that a record entry will result.

Dr. Porter Miller of Los Angeles will judge all breeds, and A. H. Dodds will be the general superintendent. W. Battison and H. Lillie have been appointed as chief ring stewards, and Mrs. J. W. Buckley and Mrs. J. F. O. Wood will again be in charge of the trophies.

The B.C. Agricultural Association has done considerable improvement work on the building and the club contemplates doing more for the comfort of the exhibitors and patrons. The old dog show building will present a cheery appearance for all on the big day.

Mrs. B. Davidson, the honorary secretary, reports that many inquiries have been received both from local and outside fanciers concerning this show, and that prospects for a big show look exceedingly good.

For the convenience of those that have not received a premium list and entry forms, a supply has been left at MacFarlane's Drug Store, Douglas and Johnson Streets, where they may be obtained, or they may be obtained from the secretary by phoning Colquhoun 258, or by letter to R.R. No. 1, Royal Oak, B.C.

may force a fast pace, but he is not conceding a very great chance of winning. Bob Waters, Vancouver police weight star, may enter the event. The visitors will probably dominate the majority of the field events, with Bob Dixon favored for the discus and weights.

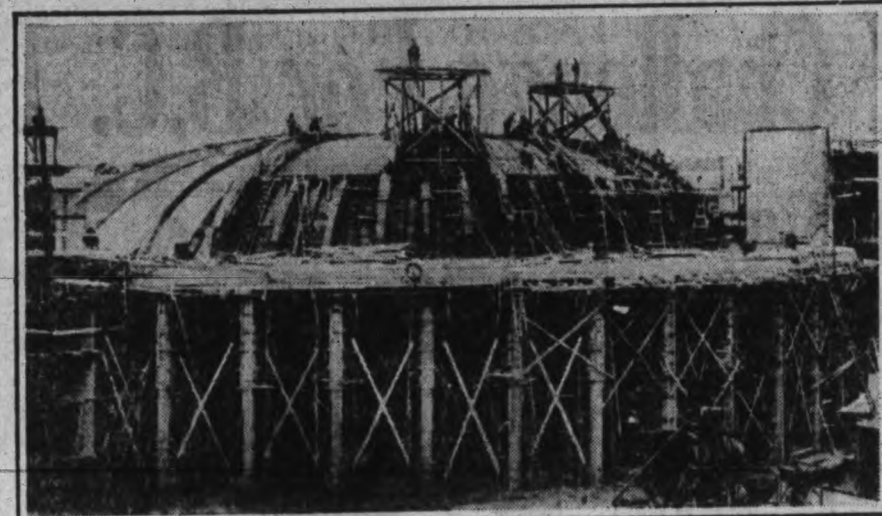

Ed Burritt, slender and unassuming Vancouver pole vaulter, should have little difficulty in coping that title. He has been vaulting consistently close to the Canadian record and will be offered no local opposition of outstanding calibre.

Chances of records are not regarded as very bright. While the athletes will be running on well-conditioned turf, they will be at a disadvantage in the sprints, particularly where a harder cinder surface makes faster times.

But while the possibilities of new fast times are doubtful, the keenness of competition will be reduced in no way. All will have the same chance on the grass and hairline decisions are expected in several of the events.

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 23.—Leo Diegel, the Philadelphia veteran, carded a five under par 68 to assume a two stroke lead yesterday in the third annual Hershey seventy-two hole open golf tournament.

Germany and Japan Prepare For Olympics

Rushing construction of all buildings to be used in staging the 1936 Olympic Games, engineers are progressing ahead of schedule. Above is the "House of German Sport," part of the huge stadium on the western outskirts of Berlin in which the track and field events will be held. Just how well Japan believes in preparedness is illustrated by the four wrestlers below already being on the scene. They are shown going through unusual exercises designed to make them fit for a strenuous campaign.

Tommy Loughran Is Held to Draw

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 23.—Despite his display of most of the skill that once made him ruler of the light-heavyweights, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia veteran, found himself held to a draw yesterday evening by Al Delaney, hard-hitting Buffalo bruiser. In a six-round battle that saw little damage inflicted by either fighter. Loughran weighed 183½, Delaney 188.

Loughran made Delaney miss consistently and was the aggressor most of the way, but the two judges voted for a draw and Referee Bill Cavanaugh, boxing instructor at the United States Military Academy, scored his sheet in favor of Delaney.

NO UPSETS IN GANGES EVENT

Favorites Advance in Second Day's Competition of Gulf Islands Tennis

Ganges, Aug. 23.—No upsets marked the second day's play yesterday in the annual Gulf Island tennis tournament. Although rain halted play for a short time in the morning, the schedule was well maintained.

Dunc Williams, Vancouver, seeded number one, advanced at the expense of Norman Best, 6-1, 6-4. E. Forst, Vancouver, turned back H. Little with the loss of only four games, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Staples and Hawes Win Titles

Crowned Vancouver Island Junior Tennis Champions; Former Shares in Five Crowns; Kay Grogan and Kewpie Unsworth, Victoria, Take Doubles

Duncan, Aug. 23.—Junior tennis championships of Vancouver Island will rest for the next twelve months in the capable hands of Miss Hawes, Vancouver, and Kathleen Staples, Duncan. In the finals played here yesterday, bringing a successful tournament to a close, Hawes defeated J. Ritchie, also of Vancouver, in three sets, 6-2, 6-6, 6-2, and Miss Staples was triumphant over Kay Grogan, Victoria, 6-1, 6-2.

In addition Hawes was runner-up with Giles in the under eighteen doubles, and winner with Pedlar in the under sixteen and under fifteen doubles. Miss Staples also won the under sixteen singles, and with her brother Tony lifted the under eighteen mixed doubles and the under sixteen mixed. She also teamed with Ruth Wilson, Vancouver, to win the under sixteen girls' doubles.

Monica Roberts, South Cowichan Club, won three finals, the under fifteen girls' British Columbia championship, the under fourteen island championship and the under fourteen doubles with R. Menzies of Nanaimo.

The girls' doubles under eighteen championship of British Columbia was won by Kay Grogan and Kewpie Unsworth, Victoria. Ritchie and Muir, Vancouver, took the British Columbia boys' doubles championship.

Fred Perry Wins Matches in East

Signior Club, Que., Aug. 23.—Fred Perry played easy and interesting tennis here yesterday in exhibition doubles and singles matches to show a large gallery of spectators why he is ranked at the top of the world in his chosen sport.

Perry defeated Walter Martin, Toronto, former Canadian Davis Cup team star, 7-5, after Martin had led, 4-1, at one stage. Playing against another former Davis Cupper, Gilbert Nunn, Toronto, Perry was given a hard battle but won, 6-4.

In doubles play, the Englishman paired with Ross Wilson, Toronto, recent winner of the singles title of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, to defeat Nunn and Martin, 6-4, after the Toronto team had established a 4-0 lead.

Cubs Beat Giants In Extra Innings

Chicago Gains on National League Baseball Leaders With 4 to 3 Victory; Yankees and Detroit Are Both Beaten in American Loop

One game up on the New York Giants in their important series and only three behind the league leaders in the standing, the time seems to be at hand for Chicago Cubs to prove whether they are real contenders for the 1935 National League baseball title or just another contending club.

The Cubs put up a great exhibition yesterday to turn back the Giants, 4 to 3, in an exciting eleven-inning battle. All they have to do now is win two or three more of the series to get up close to the leaders, get through comparatively easy visits to Boston and Pittsburgh, then go home for an attempt to duplicate their last great stand.

CARDINALS IDLE

As the second-place St. Louis Cardinals were rained out at Brooklyn the defeat reduced New York's lead to two and a half games. The only other National League contest saw Cincinnati trounce the Phillies, 9 to 1, behind Al Hollingsworth's three-hit flinging.

The big doings in the American League saw the Boston Red Sox hop from fifth place to third as the four clubs which held first division places to start the afternoon all were defeated.

The Red Sox outslugged the league-leading Detroit Tigers, 10 to 9, scoring six runs in the eighth to offset an earlier five-run burst by Detroit. Hank Greenberg hit his thirty-third home run of the year.

The Boston victory put the Sox ahead of Chicago's White Sox, who took a 7 to 4 drubbing from Washington as the Senators belted out fifteen hits and Cleveland came out on the short end of a 1 to 0 struggle with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The St. Louis Browns took advantage of New York errors to defeat the Yankees, 11 to 9, leaving them seven games behind Detroit.

A ten-hit shut-out, a rarity in any man's league, put the San Francisco Mission more firmly in the lead of the Coast Baseball League to-day. Otto Nicholson, Mission hurler, was generous with bingles yesterday. He left Portland batters have at least one in every inning but the sixth. But he allowed no more than two in any frame, effectively preventing any Portland run; from crossing the plate.

"Hobo" Carson yielded as many hits but the Missions managed to bunch them, to score in the seventh and eighth for a 2 to 0 victory which slumped Portland back into third place.

Meanwhile the San Francisco Seals broke the Sacramento jinx, hammering two Senator pitchers to win, 7 to 1.

Hollywood's hurler, Ed Wells, proved duck soup for Seattle, who pelted his offerings for seventeen bingles and an 11 to 4 victory. Oakland made its two straight over Los Angeles, 14 to 12. The Oaks drove three Angel pitchers to the showers by an eleven-run rally in the fifth.

Scotch, Sir?

THINKING of the Highland Games to-morrow, we were reminded of what a beautiful big selection we have right now of worthwhile woollens from Scotland and the Old Country generally... fine hand-loomed tweeds, Burberry coats, Scotch-knit sweaters and golf stockings, plaid shawls and dressing gowns and so forth... sports apparel for ladies as well as for men. Even if you're not from Scotland, we know you'll love the quality of these fine imported things.

Rejuvenate the Tired Feet

Six-foot "Glad" Best on Island

F. H. Staverman's Giant Flower Is the Biggest So Far in the Times Contest to Discover Tallest Gladiolus

With a six-foot gladiolus, which towers above the other plants in his garden at Langford Lake, F. H. Staverman, well-known poultryman in that district, can lay claim to the championship of Vancouver Island for tall "glads."

His giant just noses out Norman Baker's "sky-scaper," which was five feet eleven inches tall.

Mr. Staverman's gladiolus has width as well as height for he reports that it has five spikes. The biggest flowers on these spikes are five inches across.

Though Mr. Staverman's plant is the tallest to be reported yet in the Times contest to find the biggest on the island, it still falls short of another's best by four inches. Mainland claim Henry Bender's six-foot-four inch "glad" as the champion of the Pacific Northwest, and it looks as though they are right, for Victoria cannot seem to beat it, and Seattle's best was a mere five-foot-five inches.

If however, any other readers have any giant "glads" developing, the Times would like to hear about them.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE

The funeral of Beatrice Susan Sedon, who passed away on Monday last, took place yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Many friends attended the service, which was conducted by Dean Quinlan. The hymn sung was "Abide With Me." The casket was covered with many beautiful flowers.

The following were pallbearers: D. F. W. Metcalf, W. E. Hill, E. Laundry and J. L. Stone.

The remains were laid to rest at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Insurance Men Open Session

Equitable Life Group Swings Into Main Business of Conference Here

Delegates to the educational conference of the Pacific northwest agencies of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, swung into their serious programme at the Empress Hotel to-day as leaders in various branches of their work gave talks of interest largely to the profession.

The morning session closed shortly after noon, and visitors enjoyed sight-seeing rides and golf.

To-morrow they will resume their conference with further addresses on the technical phases of their work. Under the chairmanship of C. J. Sauter, Seattle, six speakers, two each from Spokane, Seattle and Portland, carried the main burden of the morning's activities. Following an intermission, C. H. McCoy, Spokane, took the chair to direct later activities.

MORNING TALKS

After a welcome by Mr. Sauter, Howard Ries, Seattle, spoke on insured estates. Vincent Alling then took the floor to deal with insurance and the family income. Harold Parry, Spokane, gave an address on showing the client the value of insurance as opposed to telling him of the benefits. Paul Jenne of the same city traced the psychology of selling in a paper head, "Allowing the Buyer to Say 'Yes'."

Francis L. McGahuey, Portland, spoke on "Sweetening Old Age," and James E. Drummond brought the early morning session to a close with a talk on "Avoiding vs. Meeting Objections."

At the later session, Major W. O. Hearsey, divisional group manager, spoke on selling the executive complete group coverage. He was followed by W. H. Clines, superintendent of agencies for the western department, who spoke of general aspects of insurance.

VICE-PRESIDENT HEARD

Albert G. Borden, second vice-president of the company, rounded off the gathering to-day with an address and closing ceremonies.

The conferences will reconvene at 9:30 o'clock to-morrow morning to discuss the general topic, "The Agent as a Business Man."

To-day's meeting was built around the subject "Keeping Up With the Buyer."

Death Removes Frederick Crook

Frederick Crook, a resident of Victoria for thirteen years, passed away yesterday in his sleep, aged sixty-five years.

He was born in Whitefish, Wiltshire, England, and is survived by six brothers—George, 3224, Highway Street; Benjamin, 439 David Street; Walter, in England; William and Alfred, Winnipeg; and Frank Crook, Pincher Creek, Alberta; also a number of nephews and nieces.

The funeral will take place Monday afternoon in the Sands Mortuary Chapel, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

INFANT DIES

There passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Barry Stiel, 2378 Estevan Street.

Private services will take place to-morrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Sands Mortuary Chapel. The remains will be laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

MEN WHO MADE NAVY WEEK A SPLENDID SUCCESS

Much hard work was done by the committee, shown in the above picture, to assure the success of Navy Week, which wound up last Saturday. Those in the above picture are from left to right as follows: Ald. F. R. Brown, chairman; Ald. J. D. Hunter, Commander G. E. Jones, senior naval officer at Esquimalt Naval Barracks, Mayor D. Leeming and Ald. J. A. Worthington.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Victoria Short Wave Club will hold a meeting on Saturday evening at 2024 Carnarvon Street.

Members of the Victoria and district Cornish Association will hold a basket picnic at the Willows Beach, at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

Speaking upon the subject of the proposals of the new Reconstruction Party, Frank H. Partridge, president of the Victoria Stevens' Club, will be heard to-night at 7:30 over CPCT.

St. John's Ambulance Association will be on hand at the Highland Games to be staged at the Athletic Park to-morrow morning to look after all emergency cases, and will also be present at the games at Macdonald Park next Wednesday.

Reginald Cox, president of the Victoria Music Teachers' Federation, left this afternoon for Vancouver where he will meet representatives of similar federations in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, with a view to organizing a western federation.

A half-pound peach in the garden of Mrs. T. Temple, at 1743 Sixth Street, belies the opinion of experts that peaches cannot be grown on Vancouver Island. Mrs. Temple did not know the name of the variety when she spoke about it this morning, but said that it was a golden yellow color with pink cheeks. The peach tree in her garden was grown from seed.

A. E. Horner, returning officer for the elections under the B.C. Hothouse Tomato and Cucumber Marketing Scheme, will attend at committee room No. 1, Provincial Parliament Buildings, at 9:30 o'clock on Monday, August 26, for the purpose of counting ballots in regard to the election for the membership of the board. All scrutineers are requested to be present at the opening of the ballots at that hour. Any registered producer-owner desirous of attending, may do so in an unofficial capacity.

The following programme will be given at Beacon Hill Park Sunday by the Britannia Legion B.E.S.L. Band, C. A. Raine, conductor: "O Canada," march, "Third Dragon Guards" (J. Brophy); overture, "Poet and Peasant" (Suppe); cornet solo "Thora" (Stephen Adams), played by J. Newall; selection "New Sullivan" arranged by Dan Godfrey; march "Arganday" (S. Thompson); march "The Great Little Army" (Alford); waltz "L'Etudiantine" (Waldteufel); melody "Un Fen d'Amour" (a little love) (Lao Sileau); selection "Aida" (Verdi); "War March of the Priests" (Athalie), (Mendelssohn), and hymn "Sunset."

So far this season there has been no indication of a drop in tourist cars coming to Victoria. Ferries are now handling more cars than at the beginning of the month. The registration book at the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau shows that persons calling in at the office this week seeking information and advice, totaled 270. These cars practically represent every state in the Union, and also a number are from the prairie provinces and eastern Canadian points. Some of the comments left by the visitors in the remarks column are: "Top notch," "A beautiful city," "100 per cent," "A wonderful city, do not spoil it," "Had a lovely time," "Tourists' delight," "Like the old English spirit."

Mr. Fox was well known in this city, having made many visits here.

Work Proceeds At Post Office

Two Local Contractors Get Jobs of Renovating and Repairs

Dominion government contracts for further repairs and renovations at the Post Office have been awarded to two local contractors.

Knott & Jones got two of three contracts let. One calls for removal of wainscoting, relaying of tile floors and other interior work to a total of $3,100. The other is for repairs to exterior sidewalks and concrete work at a figure of $850.

J. J. Ross & Company will do redecorating and painting in the interior of the Post Office, as well as general renovations. The cost of this contract is $5,500.

Total cost of the work, which is in addition to other improvements at the Post Office earlier in the year, will be $14,450.

It will be started immediately. Federal officials here stated.

LAST RITES HELD

The funeral services for Mrs. Amy Warren Tuckey, 52 Sylvan Lane, were yesterday afternoon in the presence of many friends.

Rev. F. Comley officiated. The hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," was sung, and a solo, "King of Love." There were many beautiful floral tributes. The remains were forwarded on the afternoon boat to Seattle for cremation, after which the ashes will be interred in the family plot at Royal Oak Burial Park.

PAY FINAL TRIBUTE

Many friends attended funeral services held yesterday afternoon for Harvey Atkinson, who died in this city last Monday.

Rev. E. F. Church, pastor of the Metropolitan United Church, conducted an impressive service, during which two hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Peace, Perfect Peace," were sung. One solo, "All the Way, My Saviour Leads Me," was rendered by Frank Tupman, and was accompanied by Edward Parsons.

The following acted as pallbearers: J. W. Pullbrook, W. A. Tuck, J. A. Baker, W. H. Long, W. W. Taylor, Rev. J. P. Hicks and Ernie Wilderspin. Interment was made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Admiralty Oar History Told

Sir Boyd Merriman Addresses Men's Canadian Club on British Symbol

The jurisdiction of the Admiralty is symbolized by the solid silver Admiralty Oar which is the one thing above all others which shows that Great Britain has led the way by the example of her merchant marine in establishing a standard for shipping throughout the world, stated Sir Boyd Merriman, Kt., P.C., O.B.E., president of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice of Great Britain, in an address to members of the Canadian Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Sir Boyd spoke on the Admiralty Oar, describing it in detail and explaining its symbolism and the process of its formation.

The speaker explained that the silver oar was carried into court by the marshal at the opening of a sitting. It preceded the sitting justices and was the visible symbol of authority to administer justice in Admiralty. The Admiralty had been established 100 years ago as a high court, he said.

The oar, he stated, was the equivalent of the mace used in parliamentary ceremonial.

At the top of the oar there was an arched crown, with the middle arch removed to permit the engraving of a more modern crown within. Below that were the royal coat of arms of Henry VII and under that was a dual coronet, with the Garter, which was inscribed during the reign of William IV, who was Duke of Clarence. Below the coronet was a fouled Admiralty anchor.

On the upper section of the oar was the silver assay mark of George III, while on the lower ring, between the two bottom sections, were three assay marks—the Leopard's Head, a Lion and a Unicorn. On the base of the stem was inscribed "Jasper Swift, Marshal of the Admiralty."

The curious history about the oar was there was no written information of its history, the speaker having gleaned his data from an article written fifty years ago by Sir Travers Twiss.

In reviewing the significance of the oar, Sir Boyd said the Duke of Clarence had been the last individual Lord High Admiral. It was he who was believed to have been responsible for the cutting out of the middle arch of the crown and inserting the more modern one. This part of the symbol dated back to 1830.

The George III assay mark dated back to between 1784 and 1820. It was supposed, the speaker said, that this had been added when the oar had required repairing at the section where it rests on the shoulder of the marshal as it is carried into court. The Jasper Swift inscription dated back to 1886, during Queen Elizabeth's reign.

The Henry VII coat of arms raised a curious speculation, the speaker continued, and it was not generally believed that it was on the original blade but had been superimposed. The assay mark below the coat of arms was untraceable, but it might have been a survival of the original silver of the oar dating back six and a half centuries. The foul anchor was definitely a link with the Tudor regime, he said.

Sir Boyd told of an interesting record engraved in stone which threw interesting light on the oar. This was on the tomb of Dr. David Lewis, who died in 1584, the twenty-fifth year of Queen Elizabeth's reign. Dr. Lewis, said, was judge of the court during the queen's reign, and had designed his own tomb before he died.

On the front of the tomb were three arches, the first containing a skull in an arch of three books, believed to symbolize the old Black Book of the Admiralty, the old code of sea laws, promulgated by Richard III, and the Book of Precepts.

The middle arch contained a replica of the foul anchor and in the third section was the figure of a man carrying on his shoulder the Admiralty Oar on which was an arched crown, intact, the Henry VII coat of arms and the foul anchor. The remaining symbols had been added since this time, Sir Boyd said.

Mr. Justice McPhillips expressed the thanks of the club to the speaker. Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., presided, and introduced Sir Boyd.

Mrs. Levina Allen Called to Rest

The many friends of Mrs. Levina Allen, widow of Anthony Allen, will regret to learn of her passing yesterday at her home, 1618 Fell Street, after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Allen was born in Ontario sixty-one years ago, and after her marriage lived in Port William, Ont., for a number of years before coming to Victoria in 1912 to make her home, since when she had resided at 1618 Fell Street. A woman of wide sympathies, kindness and understanding, Mrs. Allen was known throughout the country for her wonderful hospitality.

Mrs. Allen was one of the pioneer members of the Macabees, having joined the organization in New York before it received its charter. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. B. Brooks and Miss Eunice Allen, in Victoria; two sons, Edmund Allen and Cecil Allen, in Vancouver; two sisters, Mrs. C. Leanne, Victoria, and Mrs. W. Mandley, in Shelburne, Ont.; and two brothers, James Carleton of Winnipeg and Charles Carleton, Edmonton; also five grand-children.

The funeral will be held from Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel to-morrow at 2 p.m. Interment in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Saanich Officer Gets Big One

Sergt. Ken Cummings Lands Forty-five-pound Salmon at Brentwood After Long Battle

The thrill of a lifetime which many fishermen await for years without success came yesterday to Sergeant P. Kenneth Cummings of the Saanich Police Force when he landed a forty-five pound salmon at Brentwood.

Ken is spending a week's holiday at Brentwood and landed the monster late yesterday after a long battle during which he thought several times that his opponent was the whole recently seen in the arm which bumped the Mill Bay Ferry.

To-day he proudly displayed his catch to a number of visitors who came to see it at his summer home at the Anchorage. The fish was caught on a bamboo rod and wire line.

Unfortunately Ken did not join the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association this year and consequently he will not receive the gold button to which his catch would have entitled him.

Report Bridge To Be Financed

The provincial government has heard unofficially that arrangements have been made in England to finance the Ladner Bridge Company's project for a bridge across the Fraser River at Ladner, B.C.

No details were available and the company has not advised the government of any change in their position. Premier Pattullo said this morning.

However, the matter will come to a head shortly. Two months ago the government gave the company ninety days' notice to comply with its agreement or lose its charter. This expires about the middle of next month.

Fish Season On Coast Average

Deputy Commissioner Finds Production Holding Level

Although delayed at the opening of the season by the fishermen's strike, production in the Vancouver Island west coast fish plants is about on a par with last year, according to George J. Alexander, deputy commissioner of fisheries, who recently completed an inspection tour.

The large part of the catch is centralized in the Barkley Sound area, however, he said. In the other sections the take has not been very good. Trollers are also doing fairly well in Barkley Sound, the deputy commissioner stated.

On the whole he thought the fisheries on the coast will average as well as last year.

CHARGE MINING LAW VIOLATED

For failing to file with the provincial mineralogist a statement in lieu of prospectus a summons was read in the City Police Court this morning against the Eureka Hixon Gold Mines of Vancouver. The case was given a week's remand at the request of Grossman, Holland & Company, Vancouver lawyers, representing the defendant company.

Henry Hall, K.C., appeared for the Crown and informed the court of the defence request for adjournment. The prosecution is laid under the Mineral Survey and Development Act which requires mining companies to file a statement of prospectus with provincial authorities.

Piano Classes Forming Now

Victoria music teachers are enrolling pupils for the fall term now, and we are ready with the season's largest stock of reconditioned Pianos. Pay as little as $2.00 a month and if at the end of six months you wish to buy the piano all you have paid will be credited towards the purchase price.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement for more than one insertion. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the error, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E1322 before 9 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Four-second Kisses Cut

Screen Clinches Out From Seventy-two to Eighteen Inches of Film

Hollywood.—Whatever else they may take credit for, the movies are competent mirrors for the styles of the nation. Fifteen years ago they projected upon the screen the long ro- mantic cliché which, with the long kiss, made its mark on the social scheme.

What an institution can do on a institution can break, and after years of endurance clichés Hollywood is through with them, for the moment at least.

Five years ago the average length of a movie kiss was seventy-two inches of film—four seconds of blissful ocu- lation which were supposed to lure young maidens into the theatres by the thousands.

LONG KISSES OUT

"The same young girls going into a theatre to-day would laugh such a kiss off the screen," says Director King Vidor, at present making "So Red the Rose."

"Within five years the length of film kisses has dropped from seventy-two inches of film to approximately eighteen inches," says Vidor, "and that means that the kisses and clinches average, but a second and a half on the screen."

"There are many factors entering into this decline," he adds, "but the most important one is the fact that the technique of love making has changed and the things which were serious yesterday are ludicrous now."

CLOCK TURNS BACK

On the whole this is a healthy sign, the director feels, and perhaps, youngsters are turning back the clock of time to that Civil War period to be shown in "So Red the Rose," when kisses were coy pecks on retreating foreheads and clinches were reserved for places less public than railroad depots and parking spaces.

But seriously, the screen kiss is shortening, and this may be sorrow- ful news to Japan and China, those havens of old reticence, where the long clinch, thanks to pictures, has changed the pattern of many Ori- ental youngsters in love.

REVEAL STARS; VOICE CHANGES

Hollywood.—Whether you think so or not, you have two distinct and different voices.

The tone and quality of your voice changes according to the position of your body, and you do not sound like the same person after eating a hearty meal as you did before.

M. M. Paggie, sound mixer at the Paramount studios for more than seven years, is the authority for these revelations, and he offers his micro- phone and sound-mixing panel as proof.

"There are more variables in the human voice than people imagine," explained Paggie, currently in charge of sound for "Accent on Youth," co- starring Sylvia Sydney and Herbert Marshall.

"Why this is, I have never tried to figure out. I am an electrician, not a doctor, yet you would find to re- cognize the voices of Miss Sydney and Mr. Marshall directly after they have had their lunch, compared to their vocal tones before."

POSITIONS CHANGE TONES

"The voice is different when you stand up than when you are sitting down. It's tone is much higher at- tending to standing."

"By being different I do not mean the changes registered in different moods, but by and large, each per- son has two distinct voices. And our hardest problem is tuning our ear to the natural voice of our stars so clearly that we can modulate our mixers in such manner to keep them identical through the entire picture."

NORANDA MINES PROFIT

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Net profit for the first six months of 1935 was re- ported by Noranda Mines Ltd. at $2,551,015, compared with profit for the same period last year of $3,183,128. Profits this year equalled $1.14 per share as against $1.42 a share in the first half of 1934.

Operating income for the period under review was reported at $2,795,552, as compared with $3,449,749 in the corresponding period last year. Net income for the first half of this year totalled $6,971,015 before de- preciation, compared with $3,718,330 a year ago.

The Morning Post: "The need of the moment is abstention from any word or act calculated to exaggerate pas- sion on either side. By their decision the government has set an example of calmness which, if it meets with its appropriate response here and in Italy, should militate against war even at this late hour."

The News-Chronicle, Liberal: "If in defiance of world opinion Mussolini persists in letting loose the dogs of war in Ethiopia, he will not only com- pel every loyal League member to oppose the line such a marked viola- tion of the covenant, but will demon- strately forfeit for Italy the right to secure from the council of nations' advantages which only a madman would reject."

The Daily Herald, Labor: "The time when public action is necessary has not yet been reached. The need of the moment is to recognize that this dispute is between the League and Italy—not between Britain and Italy."

The Manchester Guardian repeated its condemnation of the maintenance of the arms embargo for which, it said, there was not the slightest legal or moral justification. "It is maintained because the Italians would be angered and the French discontented if we did the right thing and lift it," it added.

Also disgruntled were Lord Rother- mer's Daily Mail and Lord Beaver- brook's Daily Express, both of whom, "Britain must get out of League mem- bership, which means war for Britain."

The "Empire-first" Express said: "Sanctions are impracticable." When Britain has discharged her obligations under the covenant she will retire into splendid isolation.

COLUMBIA

It has been a long time since the Columbia Theatre offered as delight- ful a bit of screen entertainment as the current "Fugitive Lady," fea- turing Neil Hamilton, Florence Rice and Donald Cook.

The most pleasant surprise of all is the introduction to screen audi- ences of lovely Miss Rice, the talented daughter of the well-known sports writer, Grantland Rice. She is really one of the most sensational of the recent Hollywood recruits and one who will bear watching.

In addition to Hamilton and Cook, the cast includes Clara Blandick, Wil- liam Demarest, Matt McHugh, and Nella Walker. Albert Rogell directed from a screen play by Fred Niblo Jr. and Herbert Asbury.

Rails, Industrials Steady; Utilities Lower On Wall St.

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 23.—The utilities backed water in today's stock market, after action of the house on the much debated Holding Company Bill, but rails and industrials exhibited a strong undertone.

Gains of 1 to 2 or more points ruled among the favorites and the power division later halved declines of as much. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 1,800,000 shares.

The market paid little attention to most Washington developments. Aside from a reaction of foreign currencies, the effect of European war talk on Wall Street was questionable. A more than seasonal gain in freight car loadings helped sentiment.

Aside from the utility news, a drop of 81 to more than 84 a bale in cotton futures, induced by announcement of the government's new crop loan programme, was an unsettling influence at the start. Cotton recovered partially later.

Power shares were thrown over in large blocks at the opening. Then trading slowed down somewhat as demand for other stocks brought substantial rallies in these equities. New highs for the year included Case and Dupont with advances of around two points each. Among others up as much were Hercules, Montano Chemical and U.S. Smelting.

Improvement of fractions to one or more was enjoyed by N.Y. Central, Delaware and Hudson, Chrysler, Deere, Douglas, United Aircraft, Industrial Rayon, Celanese, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, McLean Stores and Montgomery Ward.

Girls Change Ideals for Qualification of Husbands

Says the Best Bet Is the Modern Business Man

IN THE QUESTIONNAIRE recently submitted to the students in a women's college as to what line of occupation they would like their prospective husbands to follow, they voted overwhelmingly in favor of the medical profession, with bankers, brokers and traveling salesmen following after and preachers, once the goal of every girl's heart's desire, coming in almost at the end of the list.

Of course in these times of unemployment when a man with any sort of a job that makes a living is the answer to a maiden's prayer for a husband, girls cannot afford to be choosy about the line of endeavor the men they marry follow. It is any port in a storm, and thank God for a safe anchorage.

Nevertheless, a man's occupation does have a lot to do with his desirability as a husband, and it is something that a girl does well to consider before she signs up with him as a life partner. Take doctors, for instance, who are the hot favorites with these college girls. Nobody will deny with, well educated, they are spotlessly clean; they are trained to assume a sympathetic attitude, and they are the only men on earth who will listen with an appearance of interest when a woman talks about herself, all of which makes a hit with women, and would apparently put them in the three-star class as husbands.

Yet there are no other wives in the world who are, as a class, so universally jealous as doctors' wives. And with a little reason. For to the average physician a woman is not a woman. She is just a case. His sympathy is sold over the counter. His interest is purely professional, and always he sees a woman at her worst, when she is sick and ugly and unreasonable.

But for all that, his wife can't help getting green-eyed when she thinks of him holding the hands of ladies in pink silk and lace negligees, and so the doctor is no man for the girl to marry unless she has searched her own system and is certain she has no symptom of jealousy about her.

Preachers also have always had an especial fascination for women, and any young clergyman, especially if he is slim and pale and dyspeptic looking, could always have the pick of the feminine part of his congregation. His line was irresistible because he talked to women about their souls instead of their bodies as other men did, and every woman gets a morbid joy of vivisection herself.

But the preacher's stock isn't quite so high as it used to be because, for one thing, the modern girl isn't nearly so religious as the maidens of the past were, and, for another thing, she has realized that a girl who marries a clergyman marries the congregation.

She has to consider how the frumps will like her new hat and what the prudish think of a one-piece bathing suit with no back to it, and that no matter what she does she will never be able to give satisfaction to the sisters who will always think that her husband could have done so much better if he had married them.

Lawyers likewise have their allure, and there are probably no women more puffed up with pride than those who can address their husbands as "Judge," but if a man succeeds as a lawyer he has to be a student, and that makes him a poor fireside companion. His nose must be buried in a book instead of bent over a bridge table, and he must sit up in brooding silence turning over his cases in his mind of an evening instead of engaging in bright chitchat about the neighbors and the baby's new teeth.

The wife of a famous lawyer once told me that she never spoke to him first for fear she might break up some important train of thought. That wouldn't suit the average woman who likes the sound of her own voice. Moreover, a lawyer must have a thousand secrets and know hundreds of perfectly delicious scandals about his clients that his wife is just dying to hear all about that he won't tell her, and if that isn't aggravating, I ask you.

As for the traveling salesman and naval officers, they are a good choice of husbands for women who are sports enough to take a fifty-fifty chance on marriage; secure in the fact that no matter how things turn out they will be happy half of the time, either when their husbands are at home or when they are not. And you might play a worse tip than that, anyway.

Only three classes of women should marry actors. Women who are discerning enough to tell the difference between stage kisses and real kisses. Women who would rather have an sizzling hot love cocktail than a gallon of skimmed-milk affection. Women who have the patience to wait for wandering feet to come back home to mother. No woman should marry a cinema star unless she likes marriage on the installment plan.

Take it all in all the best bet in marriage for a woman is the business man. He isn't often temperamental. He isn't spoiled by public adulation, and so he doesn't expect his wife to be the queen of the income burners. He knows that in every undertaking there is bound to be losses as well as profit and he doesn't demand perfection in the woman to whom he is married. He is satisfied if she strikes a good general average.

And he is used to making a bargain and sticking to it, no matter if it isn't all that he thought it would be, and so he doesn't rush off to the divorce courts every time he sees a platinum blonde who looks better than his wife.

Naturally a man's occupation affects his point of view, his tastes and his habits, and hence his desirability as a husband. So woman does well to consider a man's profession in picking out a husband. DOROTHY DIX. (Copyright by Ledger Syndicate.)

Uncle Wiggily's Ink Berries

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

One day Uncle Wiggily saw Nurse Jane sitting at her kitchen table with some sheets of paper and a pen in front of her.

"What are you going to do, Nurse Jane?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"I am writing down the names of all your bunny rabbit children," the muskrat lady housekeeper answered. "I am all going to put down when the birthday comes so there won't be any mixup as to find a Squeakie pig to help eat the birthday cake I made."

"So I did," said Mr. Longears. "Well, writing down the bunnies' birthdays is a good idea."

"I can't do it until you get me some ink," said the housekeeper muskrat. "I thought I had some, but I find my bottle is empty. Will you please get me some?"

"Yes," said Uncle Wiggily, kindly. "I'll put on my white trousers and hop to get you some ink. Perhaps in getting the ink I may have an adventure."

STYLISH COLOR

"I hope so," said Nurse Jane. "And if you don't mind, please get me some purple ink. I think that is the most stylish color in which to write down the birthday dates, don't you?"

"Oh, yes, of course," answered the rabbit gentleman.

Away he hopped over the fields and through the woods, wearing his white trousers, which made him look quite summy and sporty like. Besides wearing his white trousers, Uncle Wiggily also had on the pink, twinkling nose and a cap. His tall silk hat was too hot to wear on a warm August day.

All of a sudden, as the rabbit gentleman was hopping along, the Fox and the Bob Cat began roasting the woods. The two bad Chaps were each wearing black trousers, but as soon as they saw Uncle Wiggily's white ones the Bob Cat said:

"Let's go home and put on our white pants. These Uncle Wiggily may think we are sporting friends of his and we can get close enough to him to grab his ink. It's been a long time since we have had any rabbit nibbles."

"Indeed, it is!" agreed the Fox. "All right, we'll put on our white pants and are if we can fool Uncle Wiggily."

JUST THE THING

So the bad Chaps hopped away to do this and Uncle Wiggily hopped on to get the purple or violet ink for Nurse Jane. He had not gone far through the woods before he came to a bush on which Uncle Wiggily knew what they were—berries of the poke weed. Often when a boy rabbit in a cup and made purple ink of them.

"Till take some of these poke berries to Nurse Jane," said Mr. Longears. "She can make purple ink from them." He made a basket of bunches and filled it with the berries, taking care not to put his white trousers. As Uncle Wiggily was about to go home, all of a sudden along came the Fox and Bob Cat in their white pants.

They got close to Uncle Wiggily before he knew who they were for, and he saw the sporty trousers. He thought they might be his friends. But when he saw the Bob Chaps, the rabbit gentleman quickly quipped out some of the purple poke berry juice and threw it on the white pants of the Fox and Bob Cat, spotting them.

"Oh, woe is us! Woe is us!" they cried. And the bad Chaps were so ashamed of their spotted, white pants that they ran to the cleaners without harming Mr. Longears at all. The bunny laughed, took the ink berries to Nurse Jane and she wrote out the birthday lists. So if the lightning bug doesn't bug a hole in the mosquito netting, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's toothache.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 24, 1935

Benefic aspects rule to-day, according to astrology. It is time to push business affairs in preparation for autumn activity.

So many good influences are discerned to-day that astrologers stress the importance of employing every means in constructive work. Judgment should be good, and energy at high tension.

In the early morning labor is subject to stimulating influences that promise advancement in wages and improved working conditions. Industry is to benefit through harmonious relations.

Increased exports of foodstuffs should bring profits to agriculture. Food prices will advance appreciably in the fall so that there will be agitation on account of the increased cost of living.

This is a fortunate day for sailing. Travel is to be heavy and many distinguished persons will visit the United States. Both New York and San Francisco will welcome representatives of foreign trade.

Building is under a planetary government very fortunate for many American cities. Bridges, tunnels and other engineering schemes are to add to American fame.

Under this rule whatever depends upon personal effort is well elected by the stars, but it is an unfavorable time to expect aid or influence from persons occupying positions in the sun.

Women of serious ambitions have the best planetary climate at this time. For the few who exert supreme will and are unifying in their industry rich rewards are preaged.

Persons whose birthdate it is to have the augury of a year of gain that includes reputation as well as money. Writers should be especially lucky.

Children born on this day have promise of big possibilities. Suggestion of this sign is their bright future.

Pitts, Earl Goddard, anthropologist, was born on this day, 1890. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Robert Herrick, poet, 1881; Theodore Parker, clergyman and reformer, 1818; and William Wilberforce, English philanthropist and statesman, 1769.
